FBI, Police Stage Raid On Possible SLA Hideout

Agents Report Apartment Just Recently Vacated

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The FBI and police yesterday night raided an apartment apparently used as a hideout by the Symbionese Liberation Army, kidnapers of Patricia Hearst until less than a week ago.

The FBI said they found terrorist slogans scrawled on the walls signed by "Tania," the name Miss Hearst said she adopted when she decided to give up her former life and join the tiny terrorist sect which kidnaped her Feb. 4.

Authorities said they discovered clothing and other articles that indicated the SLA had occupied the apartment less than a week ago.

The raid on the apartment came slightly more than 24 hours before a deadline for the safe return of the 20-year-old newspaper heiress in order for the SLA to win another $4 million food ransom for the poor.

A blind woman who lived below the SLA hideout said today she heard "all kinds of phone calls" from the apartment.

"I could hear money fall like in gambling," said Mrs. Lola Evans. She said she never heard the occupants use any names.

Mrs. Evans said she told FBI agents during the raid that she heard a man walking all night.

"I thought something funny was going on here," she said, but she never suspected it was the SLA.

Authorities were directed to the apartment by the building manager, who said he called police to investigate a "suspicious occurrence" at the third floor apartment.

The apartment building is located in San Francisco's "Western Addition" district about a mile west of Civic Center and only a few blocks from the garage where two cars used by the SLA in a bank robbery April 15 were left abandoned.

Police found the keys to a rented car which the underground group used in an April bank robbery.

FBI agents removed everything but a bed from the apartment. They loaded two trucks and a car with large boxes and bags containing items found in the apartment. No weapons or suspects were discovered.

On one wall was scrawled "Freedom is the bread of the people—Cin."

On another wall was "Patria O Muerte, Venceremos. Tania."

The slogan, roughly translated, means "Fatherland or death, we will overcome."

Eight SLA members and Miss Hearst are being sought in connection with the April 15 $10,000 bank robbery and the shooting of two bystanders.

The owner of the apartment building in San Francisco's Western Addition section had called police to investigate a "suspicious occurrence" at a third floor apartment which was abandoned last Friday.

One woman who lived near the apartment house on Golden Gate Avenue told KGO television that she identified an FBI photograph of "Cinque," the head of the SLA, as one of the persons she had seen in the area. "Cinque" has been identified as Donald De Freeze, 30, an escaped convict.

The apartment is not far from the bank in the Sunset district which was robbed by the carbine-carrying terrorists.

Authorities said the recovered materials showed the SLA had been in the apartment until recently. The apartment was rented March 20 and abandoned last Friday.

Objects seized during the raid were sent to the FBI crime lab in Washington for analysis.

Meanwhile, the SLA faces a deadline of midnight tonight to release Miss Hearst or forfeit a $4 million food giveaway to the poor.

FBI agents are on a special alert basis, anticipating action by the SLA, which has been criticized by various leftist groups for kidnaping Miss Hearst, killing Oakland school chief Marcus Foster and robbing a San Francisco bank.

Miss Hearst, 20, was abducted Feb. 4 by the terrorist organization and in a message to her parents April 3 announced she would "stand and fight" with the SLA rather than be freed. Her father, Randolph A. Hearst, said his daughter is a victim of "mind control."

If Miss Hearst isn't released today, the money put in escrow by Hearst and the Hearst Foundation will be returned to the foundation.

Security remained tight around Hearst's suburban Hillsborough home last night. Private guards were posted and new locks have been installed on the driveway gates and some doors.

Doctors Asked To Report Any Services To The SLA

"Dear Doctor" circulars from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, asking physicians to contact the FBI if they treat wanted members of the Symbionese Liberation Army were received this week by Marin and other Bay Area medical men.

A spokesman for the Marin Medical Society said, after receiving such a circular, he was confused at first "on where a physician stands on this."

He pointed out that doctors are required by law to report to police when they treat patients for gunshot or other wounds of violence that might be the result of assaults.

In this case, however, the FBI circular asked doctors to call if they treated Donald David De Freeze, Patricia Soltysik, Nancy Ling Perry or Camilla Hall as well as Patricia Hearst for ordinary medical problems.

No doctor-patient ethical issue is involved, though, the local doctor was told by legal counsel for the California Medical Society.

"The doctor's responsibility is clearly to society," was the view of the state association lawyer.

A representative of the FBI in Marin said it was common for the bureau to "circularize" members of various businesses or professions when seeking wanted criminals. He said, however, that it was unusual to send requests directly to physicians.

Usually, the FBI bulletins, similar to the posters placed in post offices or other public buildings, are merely printed in local medical publications.

The circular sent to the doctors bore pictures of the five on its front along with their descriptions. On the back under the heading "Dear doctor" were more specific details for physicians.

The circular said that Miss Hall has been treated for cystitis in the past and has uncorrected vision of 20/800.

Jobless Rate Is Down, Slightly For Second Consecutive Month

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's unemployment rate edged down from 5.1 to 5 per cent in April—the second straight monthly decline—with teen-agers and blacks accounting for most of the drop, the government said today.

The lower jobless rate, down from the 5.2 per cent level in January and February, appeared to run counter to other economic statistics recently seeming to point toward an economic slump or possibly a recession.

However, the unemployment report by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Stattistics also said that the average work week of rank and file workers and their paychecks were smaller in April. These declines would appear to point toward an economic downturn.

Except for teen-agers and blacks, most categories of workers showed little change in unemployment in April. The jobless rate for teen-agers dropped from 15 down to 13.8 per cent and the rate for blacks declined from 9.4 down to 8.7 per cent.

Chairman Herbert Stein of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers said that "no great significance" should be attached to the small drop in the unemployment rate in April since changes of 0.1 per cent are normally considered "statistically insignificant."

The 5 per cent rate in April was still well above the October rate of 4.6 per cet, the lowest jobless rate in nearly four years.

Stein also noted that the April employment data was collected during the week preceding Easter, and that many workers may have been away from home for a long weekend. He said the shorter work week also may have been caused by workers getting extra time off on Friday and Saturday before Easter.

The work week averaged 36.6 hours, down 12 minutes from March, the BLS said. The factory work week decreased 54 minutes to 39.5 hours, with factory overtime off 48 minutes at 2.8 hours.

Informal Citizens' Group Formed In Crowe's Support

A citizens committee has rallied to the defense of former Fairfax Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe.

The informal organization, called Committee For the Aid For Legal Defense of Robert E. Crowe, was formed several weeks ago to help pay Crowe's legal bills, according to Mary R. McBride of 50 Cypress Drive, organization chairman.

Crowe is due in Marin Superior Court June 6 on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The charge stems from a post-election fracas March 6 in which Crowe grabbed an ax and grappled in a city street with a teen-ager.

"We feel that Bob has been charged unjustly and needs all the help he can get," said Mrs. McBride. "His career is ruined, let alone his reputation. It is a crime when a man so qualified becomes a political pawn," she said.

Mrs. McBride said the citizens committee will hold a fund-raising dinner for Crowe at 6:30 p.m. May 16 at the Deer Park Villa in Fairfax.

The Fairfax Town Council first suspended Crowe and placed him on sick leave following the ax incident, then discharged him after he failed to appear for work when his leave expired. The council declared he had resigned.

Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best yesterday ordered the council to rehire Crowe or appear in court at 9 a.m. May 14 to explain why it shouldn't.

U.S. Bond Sale Totals For April

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sales of U. S. savings bonds outpaced redemptions in April by $157 million, the Treasury Department said today.

The government sold $564 million worth of Series E bonds —the type most people buy — and $25 million of H bonds last month, for a total of $589 million.

Investors cashed in $392 million in E bonds and $40 million in H bonds for a total $432 million in redemptions.

Four 'Zebra' Slaying Suspects Are Freed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police last night released four of seven suspects in the San Francisco "Zebra" slayings of whites for "insufficient evidence."

But in Washington, D.C., Mayor Joseph Alioto said the four no longer held may be called before a grand jury investigation of the random killings of whites and a possible connection with a mysterious murder cult called the "Death Angels."

An attorney for the three suspects still held said he thought they would also be released.

"They just didn't have the evidence and I would say they don't have it on the other three," said attorney Clinton White, who was hired by Black Muslim Temple 26 to represent all seven men after their arrests in a massive police dragnet Wednesday.

Alioto, who met with U.S. Attorney General William Saxbe, said afterwards he had appealed to Saxbe to begin a federal investigation of the Death Angels, which he said were dedicated to the murder and mutilation of whites and dissident blacks.

Saxbe said he will help in any way he can.

In the Zebra killings, at least 12 white persons were shot and killed at random over a five-month period on San Francisco streets. Alioto said the figure could go much higher, to 80 or more killings and assaults throughout California.

"The four who were released will probably be brought before a grand jury," Alioto said. But later he modified his statement to say they "might be" called.

White said all seven suspects appeared in a police lineup and their photos were shown to witnesses.

"The four apparently came through unscathed," White said.

Those released were excollege football star Tom Manney, 31; Douglas Burton, 22; Clarence Jamerson, 27, and Dwight Stallings, 28.

Chief Assistant District Attorney Walter Giubbini said before the lineup the four would be released if they were not identified by witnesses. He said his office had "nothing else" to hold them on.

Still in custody were Manuel Moore, 29, Larry G. Green, and J.C. Simon. Formal charges of murder were filed against the three late Thursday.

More Banks Hike Lending Rates

NEW YORK (UPI) — Several more big banks raised the interest rate on prime business loans Friday either to 11 or 10 ¾ per cent.

Those going to 11 per cent included Crocker Bank of San Francisco, National Bank of Detroit and City National Bank of Detroit. Bankers Trust of New York went to 11 per cent late Thursday, the fifth big bank in the country to do so.

First National City Bank of New York joined the many banks that have raised the prime rate to 10 ¾ per cent from 10 ½.

Agnew Unlikely To Seek Appeal

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Maryland's highest court has disbarred former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew for "fraud, dishonesty and deceit."

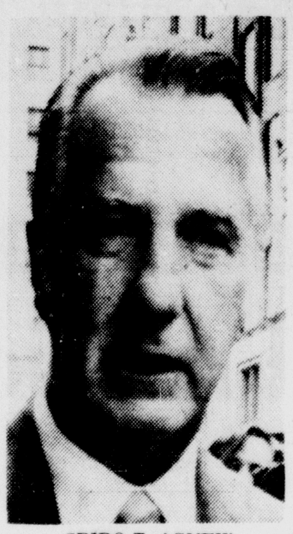
To do otherwise, the Maryland Court of Appeals said yesterday, would "constitute a travesty of our responsibility."

Rather than stand trial on charges involving a kickback scheme during his years as vice president, governor of Maryland and Baltimore County executive, Agnew resigned as vice president and pleaded no contest to evading federal income taxes of $13,551.

Agnew had asked that he be temporarily suspended, rather than being disbarred. He asked a special three-judge panel hearing the case Dec. 18 "not to strip me of my livelihood. I can resume a useful place in the practice of law after my suspension," he pleaded.

But the Court of Appeals concluded that "This crime which involves moral turpitude. . . is infested with fraud, deceit and dishonesty."

The appeals court cited other decisions requiring "that when a member of the bar is shown to be wilfully dishonest for personal gain by means of fraud, deceit, cheating or like conduct, absent the most compelling circumstances not shown to be present here, disbarment followed as a matter of course."



SPIRO T. AGNEW
Maryland disbarment

"To do other than disbar the respondent in this case, therefore would constitute a travesty of our responsibility," the appeals court said.

Agnew's attorney, Leon H.A. Pierson, said afterward:

"Personally I have not talked to Mr. Agnew but I feel fairly, reasonably certain he will accept the appeals court decision."

Agnew's successor as Baltimore County executive, N. Dale Anderson, was convicted March 20 of 32 counts of conspiracy, extortion and tax evasion and was sentenced to five years in prison Wednesday. Prosecutors contended during Anderson's 11-week trial that he "inherited" the system of kickbacks from "previous administrations."

Winter Is Named To Space Position

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. David L. Winter was named director of life sciences for the U.S. space agency yesterday.

Winter, former deputy director of life sciences at the Ames Research Center, Mountain View, succeeds Dr. Charles A. Berry, who resigned to become president of the University of Texas Health Science Center in Houston.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Mitterrand Leads

PARIS (UPI) — France's presidential campaign drew to a close today with Communist-backed Socialist candidate Francois Mitterrand leading in the latest opinion polls, but falling short of the majority needed for a first round victory in Sunday's election.

The latest polls gave Mitterrand 44 per cent of the vote followed by conservative candidate Valery Giscard d'Estaing with 31 per cent. Jacques Chaban-Delmas, the official Gaullist contender, was third with 17 per cent.

The two top finishers in the field of 12 will meet in a May 19 runoff election if none of the contenders gets a majority in the initial balloting.

Keane Indicted

CHICAGO (UPI) — Alderman Thomas Keane, Chicago's second most powerful political figure, was indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury in connection with allegedly illicit land deals involving the city.

The 21-count indictment charged Keane, whose influence is second only to that of his long-time associate, Mayor Richard Daley, with mail fraud and conspiracy.

He was charged with using the mails to violate state laws prohibiting government officials from having any interest in the sale or purchase of land by a governmental agency.

The indictment charged that Keane, 68, known to his City Council colleagues as "the old professor," secretly purchased tax delinquent properties in urban renewal areas, urged the city to drop tax assessment liens on the properties, then sold the land at a profit to city agencies.

Copter Demand

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today demanded the immediate return of a helicopter and three-man crew forced down over China by bad weather and warned of the "inevitable consequence" if Peking rejects the ultimatum.

The demand, one of the most harshly worded since bitter Soviet-Chinese border fighting erupted in 1969, did not specify the consequences.

The Tass news agency said the Soviets issued the ultimatum after weeks of quiet diplomacy apparently failed.

Wallace Reports His Net Worth

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George Wallace, who is gearing up for a fourth presidential campaign in 1976, said yesterday his net worth is approximately $150,000.

"That's not much for a man whose been in office as long as I have," said Wallace, "and I've paid taxes on it too."

Wallace

The governor filed a form with the state Ethics Commission showing he owes three banks "at least $25,000 but less than $50,000." The commission does not require exact figures.

The governor said his property, stocks and cash amounted to about $125,000, along with another $25,000 in insurance benefits paid him after an assassination attempt in 1972 left his paralyzed from the waist down.

The Internal Revenue Service audited Wallace's tax return in 1968 and gave him a refund for overpayment.

Spanish Talks

MADRID (UPI) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco met with his cabinet today for what sources close to the government said was an ironing out of differences over possible repercussions of the military revolt in neighboring Portugal.

The almost half-century-old right-wing regime overthrown by the Lisbon army was a close military and ideological ally of Spain.

Franco, 81, and Portugal's ousted president, Americo Thomaz, 79, were frequent hunting partners, and Portugal was the only country visited by Franco since he came to power 35 years ago.

Edith Irving Free

GENEVA (UPI) — Edith Irving was released from prison today after serving 14 months for her part in the sale of the fake autobiography of Howard Hughes written by her husband Clifford.

Mrs. Irving, 39, was released from the Mindelbank women's prison near the Swiss capital of Bern at 9 a.m., picked up by relatives and driven to Zurich.

Her lawyer, Peter Widmer, said she intends to travel shortly to the Irving home on the Spanish island of Ibiza.

He said he had no knowledge of reports that Mrs. Irving plans to divorce her husband, who is in New York with their two young sons.

Outpost Falls

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Rebel troops 21 miles northwest of Phnom Penh today captured one of two government posts where 3,800 government defenders and 250 civilians have been under heavy artillery and mortar attack for days, military sources reported.

Military sources indicated the defenders fled, leaving behind large stocks of ammunition and supplies.

Weather Front

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

A cold front today moved southward across the Great Lakes, the Mississippi River and the central Plains.

There were showers and thunderstorms from the central plains to the upper Great Lakes and into the Carolinas, and from the Great Lakes and the Ohio River to the middle Atlantic Coast.

Temperatures dropped below freezing in the northern Plains and the extreme upper Mississippi Valley.

Artillery Fire

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist gunners have used artillery in the Mekong Delta for the first time since the Vietnam War began, slamming 60 shells from captured American-made weapons into a district capital, the Saigon command said today.

Order Set On Unleaded Gas Sales

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has ordered 111,000 service stations across the country to begin selling at least one grade of unleaded gasoline by July 1.

Announcing the order yesterday, EPA said 60 to 85 per cent of the 1975 model cars coming out this fall will be equipped with catalytic converters, which clean engine exhausts but can be damaged by leaded gasoline.

The EPA said that an additional 10,000 gasoline stations, mostly in rural areas, will also have to start selling unleaded gasoline after next Jan. 1.

Any station selling more than 200,000 gallons of gasoline a year will have to have at least one pump for unleaded gas. Also, all stations in counties with fewer than 50 persons a square mile must sell unleaded gas if they sold at least 150,000 gallons of gasoline in 1971 or later.

Regardless of the content, gasoline will be more plentiful effective June 1, the Federal Energy Office (FEO) announced yesterday.

It said enough Arab oil is reaching the United States to allow increased allocations of almost all oil products.

But FEO Administrator John R. Sawhill said the nation still can expect a 4 to 6 per cent petroleum shortage unless conservation is practiced.

New York Limit On Acupuncture

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — Over objections of a senator who said she would be in "incredible pain" without apuncture treatment, the New York Senate has approved a measure that would limit the practice in the state.

Sen. Mary Anne Krupsak, a Democrat, said she had undergone the treatment for a back injury and that it relieved her "of terrible pain."

"I want the people of New York to have the best possible treatments available," she said. "I am a part of the growing army that can say, 'Had it not been for acupuncture I would be in incredible pain.'"

The measure would limit such treatment to designated regional centers set up in existing educational or hospital facilities.

Nixon Will Open Expo Tomorrow

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — The Expo '74 World Environmental Exposition, the only world's fair scheduled for the United States this decade, will be dedicated tomorrow by President Nixon.

The theme of the fair, to run for six months, is "Celebrating Tomorrow's Fresh, New Environment."

The fair, small by comparison with some in the recent past, notably those at Seattle, Montreal and New York, has drawn eight countries plus the United States and 25 domestic exhibitors.

The foreign nations are the Soviet Union, Australia, Japan, West Germany, Iran, the Republic of China (Taiwan), the Republic of Korea and The Philippines.

It began in 1969 as an idea proposed by the Spokane County Historical Society to mark this Eastern Washington city's centennial year.

After about two years of intensive planning and scheming, and a lot of political arm-twisting by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., the proposal was taken to the Bureau of International Expositions in Paris.

The 36-nation sanctioning body for world's fairs approved the fair as a special category exposition, which means that all participants must stick with the designated theme for the fair.

Two Treasury Agents Charged In Heroin Case

DETROIT (UPI) — Two Treasury Department agents were arrested and charged in U.S. District Court yesterday with conspiracy to import and sell heroin.

Agents Daniel M. Patterson, 33, and Joseph R. Clapp, 35, were charged with participating in a downriver heroin ring over the past five months.

The two agents worked for the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF).

David J. Edmisten, special agent in charge of the Detroit ATF Bureau, said the arrests were "very tragic and very unfortunate."

"It is the first time in the history of our division that an agent has been accused of narcotic sales," added William Rahling, a bureau spokesman.

Patterson, of Novi, Mich., a five-year veteran, was named Wednesday in a seven-county sealed indictment charging him and John Joseph Persky, 35, Hazel Park, with several drug sales involving about six ounces of Mexican heroin.

After Patterson's arrest yesterday, U.S. officials arrested Sandra Lee Roberts, 25, also of Hazel Park and Harris Deward of Wyandotte.

Authorities said the arrests followed a three-month probe initiated by state police.

State police intelligence Capt. Chris Swartzendruber said one of his undercover agents was setting up heroin buys with Persky in January when Persky bragged that he could find out anything he wanted know about police."

Persky and Patterson, a former CIA agent, were allegedly going to California and Mexico to meet with heroin dealers, the indictment charged, and then arranged for the transfer of the drug by directing buyers to a telephone booth where the heroin was hidden on a ledge.

Patterson was held on $25,000 cash bond following arraignment and Clapp was released on $10,000 personal bond.

Both Patterson and Clapp resigned Thursday from the ATF.

Graham will take office July 1 under a three year, $33,000 a year contract.

Gun Peddler

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police arrested James McEnnis, 27, yesterday and accused him of selling pistols door-to-door out of a shopping bag. Police said McEnnis had 14 handguns on him when he was jailed.

Nixon Tape On Wounded Knee Asked

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — The defense in the Wounded Knee trial says tapes of presidential conversations about the 71-day occupation last year will confirm that there was an electronic surveillance on the part of the government.

U.S. District Judge Fred Nichol signed an authorization for a subpoena of the tapes yesterday. President Nixon or his authorized representative have until May 28 to respond.

Chief defense attorney William Kunstler asked for the authorization, saying he suspects a conversation between former acting FBI director Patrick Gray and former White House counsel John Dean might have touched upon electronic surveillance.

Gray testified during a White House confirmation hearing March 22, 1973, that he talked with Dean the previous day.

Judge Nichol is trying Dennis Banks and Russell Means, leaders of the American Indian Movement (AIM) on 10 felony counts each in connection with last year's takeover of the South Dakota hamlet.

Yesterday Guy Fritze, who worked at the Trading Post in Wounded Knee, testified that he saw both Banks and Means armed with pistols that earlier had been part of the store's merchandise.

Fritze also said he saw them carry out supplies from the Trading Post and put them in cars Feb. 27, 1973.

Kissinger Confers With Syrian Leader

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger met tonight with Syrian President Hafez Assad in the difficult task of arranging a cease-fire on the Golan Heights as a prelude to a troop disengagement agreement. A high U.S. official said Kissinger could see "the shape of an agreement" but that he was not sure he could get it on this trip.

A series of tough statements by Syrian officials emphasized the difficulties ahead. Assad's brother, a military commander on Mount Hermon, said Syria would continue the battle until every inch of Syrian territory is rid of "the Zionist evil." Other officials demanded Israeli withdrawal from all captured territory.

Kissinger was the target of an assassination plot on his last visit to Damascus in January, and security today was unprecedented. He had a bullet proof Cadillac limousine flown in and he traveled in it through the streets of Damascus where armed students yesterday called him a "Jewish traitor" in a demonstration.

The high American official said the United States could see the shape of an agreement, but it depended on the decisions that both Syria and Israel must make —that is, concessions on both sides. So far there has been no indication of concessions by either.

The official warned that an Israeli-Syrian agreement would be far more difficult than the Israeli-Egyptian agreement since there is less room for maneuver in the Golan Heigtts than there was in the vast Sinai Desert. One Israeli salient has been within 25 miles of Damascus since the October war.

The official said Kissinger's talks in Israel went about the way he expected and he was not disappointed. But he emphasized again that Kissinger was not bringing an American plan and did not know whether he could complete an agreement on this, his fifth, Middle East visit.

The positions were roughly this: Israel has shown some willingness to give up the salient it carved into Syria in October but not the Golan Heights it won in the 1967 war. Syria demands total withdrawal and said it would continue the current war of attrition —now in its 53rd day —until there is an Israeli withdrawal. Assistant Syrian Information Minister Ahmed Madanieh told the Amman newspaper Al Destour that "Syria looks at troop disengagement through the context of a final settlement of the problem....We are not striving for the return of a few kilometers as suggested by Israel."

Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam, who gave Kissinger an unusually warm welcome, told him, "You have acted with patience and wisdom and that convinces us you work for the best interests of all in the area."

Kissinger replied that the first step towards disengagement would be difficult for Syria to take after a generation of mistrust, but "I believe the possibilities exist for taking the first step."

American officials did not take Israel's insistence on a cease-fire as a prior condition for disengagement. Israel is also seeking an exchange of prisoners of war and the immediate release of those wounded.

Syria has requested a greater withdrawal in the Heights than Israel has been willing to give, including eventual withdrawal from all the strategic Heights occupied as far back as 1967.

A high American official aboard Kissinger's plane said the Syrian demand would have to be scaled down to have agreement.

A local FBI agent said that in addition to doctors, car dealers, dentists, grocers and "others that they (the SLA members) would deal with in their normal lives" have been sent circulars.

Carpenters Getting Pay Raise

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two major contractor associations in Northern California are granting immediate 50-cent hourly pay raises to carpenters following the end to government wage controls.

Carpenters will be paid the full base hourly wage of $8.75 negotiated three years ago.

The construction industry pay board had permitted only 15 cents of a scheduled 65-cent hike. Many of the 40,000 affected carpenters struck, but the pay board would not yield.

Wildcat strikes throughout Marin County halted work on numerous projects, including construction of the new office building on Courthouse Square in San Rafael.

VICTOR SAMUELSON
Captive 144 days

Oilman Tells The Effects Of Kidnap

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (UPI) — Victor Samuelson, the Exxon Co. official kidnaped by Argentine guerrillas, says the "wrong conclusions" shouldn't be drawn just because he wasn't harmed.

"I was not mistreated in any way and had sufficient food," Samuelson told a brief news conference yesterday. But he cautioned against drawing the "wrong conclusions."

"When you are taken effectively away from the world for five months that does put a strain on you," he said.

Samuelson, who was held 144 days by the guerillas, was manager of the Exxon subsidiary there. He has been staying here at a private villa for rest since he arrived Tuesday from Miami.

Samuelson was released six weeks after Exxon paid $14.2 million to the "people's revolutionary army."

Samuelson, looking pale and tired and dressed in golf shirt and slacks, said he was confined to a room without windows and never knew the location. He said his captors never told him why he was being held or about the negotiations they were conducting with Exxon officials for his release.

Samuelson's wife and three children had been living in the villa, part of the elegant Sea Pines Plantation, since their departure from Argentina in January.

Samuelson read a brief statement in the villa courtyard which said in part "I am glad I am here, I thank God that I'm here, that I'm safe."

Samuelson, who remained standing throughout the brief meeting, said he was at Hilton Head to "rest and regain my strength." He declined to say how long he'd remain at the plush island resort, or when he would accept another assignment from Exxon.

He said he was abducted while in a company club, by a "number of people who came in with arms."

Transcripts Selling Like Wildfire

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The long awaited transcripts of President Nixon's secretly taped Watergate conversations are turning into a runaway best-seller —at least for a book selling at $12.95 a copy.

Either for historical or personal reasons, the American public is interested —even in an abridged form —in what was said by Nixon and his former top aides at those confidential White House meetings.

The Government Printing Office bookstore sold 99 copies of the blue, soft-bound, 1,308-page book within an hour after opening yesterday and all 706 copiee available for the day were gone by 11:15 a.m.

The cumbersome, four-inch thick book has the unlikely title of "Submission of Recorded Presidential Conversations to the Committee on the Judicary of the House of Representatives," by Richard M. Nixon.

A spokesman for the GPO said he had no idea the transcript was going to be a sellout. Only 1,000 copies will be available today, but the printing office has decided to print another 10,000 copies — double the original press run.

If sales continue at that rate the transcript would be one of the most popular GPO books since the Warren Commission Report on the assassination ot President Kennedy in 1964.

The Chicago Tribune got into the book publishing business Wednesday, underselling the GPO with its own edition of the Nixon-Watergate transcripts at 50 cents a copy over the counter. It is available by mail at $1.50.

Readers of the Tribune's final edition got the complete transcript text for the regular price of 15 cents in the form of a 44-page supplement. The paper also gave away 1,200 copies around the Capitol and at government offices. Another 1,200 copies were flown in and put on sale at Washington newstands where they vanished in less than an hour.

Tribune Editor Clayton Kirkpatrick said the decision to publish the transcripts was made only minutes after the President finished speaking Monday night. "While we were talking we agreed it would be a fascinating document," he said.

In New York, Dell Books said it will rush to press a paperback edition of the transcripts, including a commentary by Washington Post reporters.

Dell said the almost half a million copies of the 700-page paperback would be on sale the week of May 6 for $2.45 each.

Wallace And Buckley Cited For Honesty

BANGOR, Me. (UPI) — Alabama Gov. George Wallace and conservative New York Sen. James Buckley are the most trusted public officials in America, according to a poll conducted by an Italian restaurant.

Wallace and Buckley were awarded the Momma Carparelli Award Wednesday night by Baldacci's restaurant here. Restaurant owners based the awards on a newspaper poll which garnered some 3,000 responses from Maine citizens.

Voters were asked to choose the Republican and Democrat they felt were the most honest and frank with the public. The award was named after the grandmother of restaurant owner, John Baldacci.

Transportation Element Is Deleted From Plan

Controversial proposals for people movers, a mammoth "multimodal transportation hub" and a new interchange with Highway 101 in downtown San Rafael were deleted from the city's emerging general plan last night by the planning commission.

Commissioners felt the key proposals in the transportation chapter of the plan "were too long range in context of the general plan," according to commissioner John A. Starkweather.

A task force of city staff had recommended the proposals be deleted from the plan, saying a $23 million tab is prohibitive and saying such concepts are at odds with the character of San Rafael.

Starkweather said that although the commission has not completed its review of the transportation element of the plan, "We are closer to the staff report than the consultants' plan."

City staff found the consultants' work so cumbersome that it rewrote the transportation element of the plan and submitted the rewrite for commission review last night.

"There is a need to improve interchanges (downtown), but we don't want to raise visions of huge terminals," Starkweather said, adding that commissioners want the transportation element of the plan to be more of a "statement of goals" than precise activities.

Consultants had recommended the city erect a huge transportation hub on several city blocks near Fourth Street and Highway 101, to house mass transit, people movers, buses and automobiles.

The commission next meets to discuss the transportation element of the plan at 8 p.m. Tuesday in city hall.

Tourists Prefer Jesse James Stories

STANTON, Mo. (AP) — Tourists would rather hear about Jesse James than the Underground Railroad during the Civil War.

That's the opinion of cave guides at Meramec Caverns on U.S. 66 here. It was the hideout for Jesse and his gang during the 1870s and a stop on the Underground Railroad.

Vote Scheduled On Airline Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Representatives of the International Association of Mechanics (IAM) have reached tentative agreement with United Air Lines on a new contract averting a scheduled 3 p.m. EDT walkout, a spokesman for the National Mediation Board said today.

The tentative pact was reached by management and union officials early this morning after four days of marathon bargaining sessions.

Federal mediator George Ives said no details of the proposed contract would be released pending a ratification vote by union members.

'Sesame Street' Helps Appalachian Children

NEW YORK (AP) — A group of small Appalachian towns are finding television's "Sesame Street" and a self-help preschool project effective in bringing early education to 150 youngsters who otherwise wouldn't get it.

Organized by the Dilenowisco Educational Cooperative with the help of the field staff of the Children's Television Workshop, producers of the TV program, the project employs a mobile classroom that travels up and down the mountain roads with trained paraprofessionals and the tutoring skills of parents to help teach the children in and near their homes.

Spy's Romance With Brandt Aide's Secretary Is Bared

BONN (UPI) — A Bonn government spokesman disclosed today that East German master spy Guenther Guillaume had had a love affair with the woman who worked as secretary for Chancellor Willy Brandt's chief foreign policy adviser.

Government spokesman Armin Gruenewald said there were "no grounds for suspicion" against the secretary, identified only as Marie-Louise M., 28, but the admission added fuel to the politically explosive espionage scandal which has rocked Bonn for more than a week.

The 47-year-old Guillaume, one of Brandt's top aides, was arrested last week for allegedly spying for East Germany. Since then East-West German relations have cooled noticeably.

Brandt's chief foreign policy adviser is Egon Bahr, a minister without portfolio.

"It is true that the reports concern a former secretary of Bahr's, but the woman herself is not under suspicion," Gruenewald told a news conference today.

"There are no grounds for suspicion against the woman, nor is there a basis to believe that she has given any secret information to Guillaume," Gruenewald said.

Marie-Louise, who now works for Guenther Gaus, Bonn's designated ambassador to East Berlin, met repeatedly with Guillaume in her suburban Bad Godesberg apartment, the reports said. The report said security officials found love letters in Guillaume's chancellory desk, tying him to the woman.

Marie-Louise was to have accompanied Gaus as his secretary to East Berlin, when the diplomat becomes Bonn's first permanent representative in East Germany at the end of this month. "All I can say is that the woman in question will not take up her position in East Berlin as she was scheduled," Gruenewald said.

"The woman in question is now on vacation," Gruenewald said in answer to questions whether the secretary would be fired.

Marie-Louise has been Gaus' secretary since 1973, coming to him after four years with Bahr.

Gruenewald said that reports another woman was also under suspicion of having maintained an amorous liaison with Guillaume were unfounded.

The Bundestag Men of Confidence Council, a parliamentary committee for security matters, continued its second day of hearings into the spy affair.

County Property Tax Rates Drop

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The average property tax rate in California dropped during fiscal 1973-74 for the first time in 23 years, the state Board of Equalization reported today.

The average rate went from $11.46 per $100 of assessed value in 1972-73 to $11.15 in 1973-74, according to George R. Reilly, board chairman.

Marin County, where the tax rate dropped to $11.46 for fiscal 1973-74 from $11.85 the previous year, ranked sixth from the top in California counties.

The five counties with higher tax rates than Marin County are: Sacramento, Contra Costa, Alameda, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The drop means that on a $20,000 house the average tax would be $362 after the homeowner's exemption.

Reilly attributed the drop to two sources: 1972 legislation which increased state aid to education thereby decreasing its reliance on property taxes and also imposed limits on the growth of local tax rates; and the impact of federal revenue sharing funds.

Statewide, the net taxable assessed value of properties in all counties is $59.6 billion, which by law is 25 per cent of the full market value of the properties, Reilly said.

Sacramento County again led the state, with an average tax rate of $12.91, down from the previous year's high of $13.54. Contra Costa was second at $12.88, down from $13.16, and Alameda was third at $12.82, down from $13.15. The only other county with a rate over $12 in 1973-74 was San Francisco at $12.34, down from $12.60.

The lowest rate in the state again was Alpine County at $4.75, up from the previous year's $4.31.

Los Angeles County, with an average tax rate of $11.84, down from $11.97 last year, had the greatest net taxable assessed value, $19.3 billion. Alpine County's value, at $12.9 million, was lowest in the state.

Other rates included Fresno $10.41, down from $11.03; Marin $11.46, down from $11.85; Orange $9.89, down from $10.26; Riverside $10.30, down from $10.65; San Bernardino $11.12, down from $11.62; San Diego $10.18, down from $10.62; Santa Barbara $11.23, down from $12.13; and Ventura $10.70, down from 10.93

Man Spared Jail Time Over Skull

A Mill Valley gardener today escaped a jail term for stealing a skull from a crypt at Mount Tamalpais Cemtery Feb. 3.

Bruce Edward Jackson, 22, was given 90 days in jail by Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best, but the judge stayed the sentence and placed Jackson on 18 months' probation.

Best said he was letting Jackson plead guilty to vandalizing a gravesite, a misdemeanor, to spare him a felony conviction on his record.

The judge also ordered Jackson to perform 120 hours of volunteer work in Marin and to pay for damage done to the crypt of Harriette De Witt Kittle, who died in 1926 at 79.

Driver Dies Of Apparent Attack

A San Rafael man died this morning apparently after suffering a heart attack while driving on Highway 101.

The Highway Patrol said Romain Archibald Ringham, 66, of 359 Hyacinth Way, was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital.

Officers said Ringham's southbound auto swerved and crashed into the freeway's center divider near Corte Madera about 7:30 p.m.

He was found slumped in the seat. An autopsy is planned.

Judge Orders Treatment, Fine On Obscene Calls

A San Rafael man, who for two years allegedly terrorized Marin women with obscene telephone calls has been fined and ordered to continue in psychotherapy.

Donald Paul Paige, 33, was fined $315 last week and placed on two years' probation by Municipal Judge Robert A. Smallman following Paige's guilty plea to the misdemeanor charge.

A San Rafael woman, the victim of four of Paige's calls, received a commendation from Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger last month for her help in catching him.

Smallman ordered Paige to continue for at least a year a therapy program in which he is enrolled.

In announcing the award to Jean E. Cooney of San Rafael, Younger said Paige "had terrorized women in the area for more than two years."

Does your old lawn look like Death Valley?

The problem could well be soil compaction. The roots of most grass plants can't break through the compacted soil of an older lawn. But Northrup King has solved this problem. Our Fast & Fine grass seed mixture contains NK200, a fine-leated perennial ryegrass with a powerful root system. The NK200 roots can penetrate compacted soil to a depth of 12 to 18 inches, providing both nourishment and holding power. It's guaranteed, too.

Theft Plea Made By A Parolee

A San Quentin parolee has pleaded guilty to stealing $190 from a San Rafael delicatessen the same day he was released from prison.

Originally charged with armed robbery, Leroy Gerald Reno, 27, was allowed to plead guilty to grand theft, a less serious charge, on Tuesday before Marin Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick.

Broderick then sentenced Reno to prison, but stayed the sentence and gave the machinist and shoe repairman up to one year in county jail and five years' probation.

Reno went into Perry's delicatessen, 911 Lincoln Avenue, on Feb. 5, threatened a clerk with a stick and grabbed $190 from a cash register. Police later found him hiding under a trailer.

His past record includes an assault with a deadly weapon in Los Angeles in 1967, for which he was sentenced to six months to 10 years in prison. He escaped, was returned to prison in 1971 and paroled from San Quentin the day of his arrest in San Rafael.

April Drunken Driving Arrests Set A New Record For Marin

Drunk driver arrests in Marin during April totalled 308, the largest one-month total in three years, according to statistics reported by the Alcohol Information Committee. Next highest was 291 in December of 1971.

April arrests, higher by 47 than March, included 26 persons under 21 years of age — more than twice the number in this age group arrested in March. Other age groupings of the 270 males and 38 females apprehended are: 83 in their 20s, 75 in the 30s, 69 in the 40s, 51 between 51 and 64, four over 65.

For the third consecutive month Novato had the most arrests by a municipal police department — 27. Others were Sausalito, 19; San Rafael, 17; Larkspur, 15; Mill Valley, eight; San Anselmo, six; Belvedere, three; Tiburon, two, and Fairfax, one. Corte Madera and Ross had none.

The California Highway Patrol apprehended 169, the sheriff's department 41.

Public inebriation arrests totalled 35, and three were booked for being drunk on or about a motor vehicle.

Tips On Roses

"How To Get the Most Out of Your Roses" will be the topic of Mrs. Edward Lisherness, director of the American Rose Society, in a meeting sponsored by the Marin Rose Society at 8 p.m. next Wednesday at the Bank of Marin in Larkspur.

Dance Funds Will Buy Fireworks

A benefit dance to raise funds to purchase fireworks for the Corte Madera-Larkspur Fourth of July Celebration will be held May 18 beginning at 9 p.m. in the Mount Tam Racquet Club in Larkspur.

The club will be decorated in an outdoor setting with trees, lights and picnic tables in an attempt to recreate the Rose Bowl of Larkspur, according to Carol Pasquinelli, Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce manager. Big name bands formerly played "under the stars" at the Rose Bowl through the sponsorship of the Larkspur Volunteer Fire Department.

The Rose Bowl was closed in 1963 and an apartment building now stands on the site.

Music will be provided by Walt Tolleson's orchestra, with vocalist Marianne Kent and will feature dance music from the 1920s through the 1950s.

Top Scholar Rakes In The Prizes

OUTSTANDING STUDENT — Joan M. Larkins of Kentfield laughs and tousles the coat of her dog, Sam, as she reviews her high school career. She has won more than $6,000 in competitive college scholarships.

By PAUL CANE

Joan Marie Larkins of Kentfield has won so many valuable college scholarships lately that she may be the first student in history to turn a profit while attending costly Stanford University. (For story on latest scholarship and other winners, see page 11.)

Miss Larkins, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Larkins, of 222 Evergreen Drive, Kentfield. She is a senior at San Domenico School in Sleepy Hollow, and if there is a high school student anywhere that can be considered well-rounded, it is she.

To date, she has won $6,150 in competitive college scholarships. And, in doing so, follows in the footsteps of her brother, William, who did almost as well last year.

"I think my parents taught my brothers and me two things. They stressed the importance of following through — if we started something, we finished it, too. And they taught us to be individuals. We learned we didn't have to do what everyone else was doing, just because everyone else was doing it," she said.

So far, Miss Larkins has won: a National Merit Scholarship, worth $1,000; the Bank of America Math and Science Award for the West Bay, also worth $1,000; the Soroptimist Club of Marin's Youth Citizenship Award (second place) worth $50; the San Rafael Elks Lodge $100 "Most Valuable Student" prize (second place) and the Betty Crocker "Future Homemaker" award for San Domenico.

Last week, she also won the $4,000 Pacific Gas and Electric Co. scholarship for the North Bay division, an award based on test scores, grades, activities, and personal interviews.

Miss Larkins reports this list of prizes hesitantly, but is quick to point out that her brother, now a Stanford freshman, was similarly honored by the Elks Club, Bank of America and PG&E last year.

Never in the history of the PG&E competition have a brother and a sister won the scholarship in back-to-back years, a company spokesman said.

She is currently student body president at San Domenico, and has earned a perfect straight-A average. She's been junior class representative, sophomore class president and a member of a student body officer nominating committee as a freshman.

She has also been an officer of the Girls Athletic Association, a member of the badminton team, yearbook editor and photographer.

Outside of her own classes, she has been a guitarist at St. Anselm's Church, a teacher aide at Adaline E. Kent school, a volunteer at Bayside Convalescent Hospital, and active in circulating petitions for a wildlife protection bill in Congress.

And next year she'll go to Stanford. What more can she get involved in?

"I'd like to join one of the school's publications," Miss Larkins said, "And I will absolutely be doing something besides schoolwork. There's more to college than just that."

But that doesn't mean she will neglect her books. Although undecided on a career, Miss Larkins is looking closely at medicine as a field of study.

"I won't be able to do everything I did in high school. At San Domenico it was easy to be involved with many things, but at Stanford I'll pick out a few things and concentrate on those."

Japan Ends Up Year In Black

TOKYO (UPI) — The Japanese government sheepishly announced yesterday ij failed to balance the national budget in 1973. It had a surplus of money.

The Finance Ministry disclosed that in the fiscal year ending March 31 it collected $47.6 billion in taxes —$1.85 billion more than budgeted for expenditures.

Top Soviet Cellist Is Given Leave

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has granted outspoken cellist Mstislav Rostropovich permission to leave the country with his family and live in the West for two years.

Friends of Rostropovich, who has been out of favor with authorites since defending exiled author Alexander Solzhenitsyn, said yesterday the musician would leave for London in a few weeks.

Friends said the cellist's wife, Galina, a prize-winning soprano at the Bolshoi Opera, and their two children would join him when the school year ends.

Moscow's intellectual community expressed surprise at Rostropovich being allowed to leave and believed the decision could only have been made by the Politburo, the nation's ruling body.

Rostropovich asked to live outside the Soviet Union because of his troubles with cultural officials, the friends said.

Rostropovich let Solzhenitsyn live in the musician's country cottage outside Moscow in 1970 and 1971 although the dissident author was in official disfavor.

In 1971, Rostropovich issued a public statement defending Solzhenitsyn. Since then, several of the 46-year-old musician's planned foreign concerts have been canceled.

Israeli Commands Strike Across Cease-Fire Line

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Israeli commandos struck across the cease-fire line into Syria today and killed two Syrian soldiers in a brief skirmish, the Israeli military command said. Gunners exchanged fire on the Golan Heights front in the 53rd consecutive day of fighting there.

A Syrian military communique said the Israelis opened long-range artillery fire on a number of Syrian villages this afternoon, wounding two men and a child. It said the artillery also damaged a school in the village of Saasa, site of a Syrian military post.

Military correspondents said Israeli frontline troops were in a high state of alert and that settlers in the Golan region captured by Israel in 1967 spent 16 hours in their bomb shelters yesterday because of the increasing ferocity of the fighting.

The actions were reported as Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew into Damascus carrying Israel's proposals for a possible separation of forces agreement on the front. Israel has called for a cease-fire before there can be serious negotiations, but Syria has refused.

The Israeli command said the commando unit crossed into Syrian territory from the eastern sector of the salient Israel pushed into Syria to within 25 miles of Damascus in the October war. It said it ran into fire from a Syrian unit in the area.

Pacific Stereo's Pioneer 1/2 Price Sale

How to Get a Pioneer Receiver for 1/2 Price
You start with your choice of some very popular Pioneer receivers, reduced to half their original prices if you purchase the rest of your system at the same time. You'll find a selection of record players and speakers grouped with the appropriate receivers; these components have been selected to match their respective receivers in terms of quality and performance, and we recommend them enthusiastically. Audition the various combinations yourself in one of the listening rooms at our stores. The result of all this picking, choosing, and listening, is a personally tailored music system at extraordinary savings. Now, anyone will tell you it's not unusual to save substantially on a complete music system at Pacific Stereo (after all, that's our specialty); but when you get the receiver in that system at half price . . . Clearly a case of May Madness.

A Smart Start
The SX-424 and the SX-525 are two of the most economical ways to get Pioneer performance and reliability in AM/FM stereo receivers. Either one makes a solid foundation for your first venture into the world of component systems, and you've got some fine listening in store for you. Both have the power and sound quality you expect from components, plus the features that really give you control over tonal characteristics. The SX-424 boasts 24 watts (RMS at 1 kHz) of power and the slightly more versatile SX-525 can power up to 2 tape decks and 2 sets of speakers with its 34 watts (RMS at 1 kHz); both come with walnut cases. Whichever one you choose, you can be sure that the system you build around it will produce sound vastly superior to that of portable or console music systems. Stop by and audition several of these combinations this week for sure; it's unlikely that the Pioneer receivers will ever be offered at this price again, in or out of a system.
Pioneer SX 424 reg. $199.95 $99.98 in-system price
Pioneer SX 525 reg. $259.95 $129.98 in-system price

The Pioneer SX-626 incorporates the latest in amplifier and AM/FM tuner technology for near perfect reproduction of music, and its FM section can solve some really thorny reception problems. Across the full audio spectrum, the SX-626 offers a healthy 40 watts (RMS) of power to drive speakers to their peaks of performance; the walnut case is included. Marin Girls Win $1,000 From Bank

Two Marin girls are among four students who have won first place awards in the 1974 Bank of America achievement competition for students in the West Bay Area.

Receiving the $1,000 top prizes last night were: Joan Larkins of Kentfield and Elizabeth Stong of Tiburon.

Miss Larkins, a senior at San Domenico School for Girls in San Anselmo, finished first in the competition in science and mathematics. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Larkins. (For an interview with her, see Page 10).

Miss Stong, a senior at Redwood High School, took first place in the liberal arts field. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Stong.

Two other Marin students took awards in the competition which included students from 93 high schools from Palo Alto to Santa Rosa.

David Yardas of San Marin High School in Novato received a $750 second place award in fine arts. And John Cunningham of San Rafael High School was a runner-up and received a $250 prize in vocational arts.

The awards were presented last night at a banquet at the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco.

Fishermen Safe After Sea Ordeal

Two Santa Barbara fishermen whose boat was reported sinking in the ocean off Point Reyes today made it safely to shore, the Coast Guard reported.

A Coast Guard spokesman said a call for help was received at 1:20 a.m. from a man later identified as Bruce Otter, who said, "We're sinking off Point Reyes. We've had it, pal."

A helicopter and Coast Guard cutter were sent to search but later Otter and his companion, John M. Scott and their 35-foot boat were found beached near the Point Reyes light station. They were taken to lodging by sheriff's deputies.

The boat, valued at $35,000, was not heavily damaged, officers said.

Jury Will Receive Financial Reports

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Pennsylvania prepared today to turn over to a federal grand jury all political campaign financial reports submitted to the state in 1972 and 1973.

U.S. Attorney Richard Thornburgh of Pittsburgh subpoenaed the reports yesterday in connection with a Pittsburgh federal grand jury investigation "into patterns of political contributions as they relate to the awarding of public contracts."

Steel Products Prices Rising

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Major steel producers, including No.1-ranked U.S. Steel Corp., today began raising prices on steel products.

Other steelmakers announcing various price increases after the expiration of federal price controls included Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., National Steel Corp., and Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp.

The upward price trend was expected to be adopted industry-wide within the next few days. The companies cited rising costs of labor and materials as the reasons for the price hikes.

New three-year wage contracts covering about 450,000 steelworkers, negotiated last month, were formally signed here today by the country's 10 major basic steel companies and the United Steelworkers of America (USWA).

At the contract signing ceremony, USWA president I.W. Abel said the steel price increases "are not necessarily inflationary."

"The companies have been under price controls for quite some time, and these are natural cost increases," Abel said. "Material costs have risen sharply, and of course the new contract is going to cost the companies more."

U.S. Steel raised prices "on a broad range of steel products," effective today. The company said the hikes averaged 5.7 per cent on its "total steel product line."

Additional extra charges will become effective May 20, U.S. Steel said.

Wheeling-Pittsburgh raised prices on all its steel products an average of 6 per cent, also effective today, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube upped prices across the board on all tubular products.

New Secrets Seen Outgaining Declassification Of Old Ones

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is busy with a program to declassify secrets, but it may be making new secrets as fast as it lifts security restrictions from the old ones.

A federal review board set up to monitor President Nixon's 1972 executive order revamping the system used to classify information on national security grounds said yesterday that millions of government documents and records have been declassified since 1972.

However, the panel hinted that "secret" stamps are going on new papers almost as fast as they come off the old ones.

In a report to the President, the Interagency Classification Review Committee said all 13 agencies covered by Nixon's order had made "significant progress" lifting the official wraps on material not directly involving U.S. defense and foreign policies.

The Defense Department, according to the report, cut its pile of top secret documents by 25 per cent last year alone' and similar actions were reported at the Atomic Energy Commission, the Justice Department and other agencies.

The board also said that the number of persons authorized to classify material as top secret, secret or confidential dropped from 59,316 to 17,364 — a 71 per cent reduction.

The committee acknowledged that "there is still much work to be done" and said it had not determined whether the total government inventory of classified documents and records was actually declining.

"While it is too early to see if a definite downward trend has been established, the committee has been informed by several agencies that they estimate that there have been marked reductions in the number of documents classified this year," the report said.

WELLSBURG, W.Va. (UPI) — Masked gunmen who commandeered a truck hauling mail and made off with $1,000 worth of a collector's postage stamps were the objects of a three-state manhunt today.

Greater Participation In Lunch Program Is Sought

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Only slightly more than half of the estimated one million California children eligible for free or reduced price school meals are receiving them, the state Department of Education said today.

In a report to the Legislature, the department said that parent reluctance to accept aid and student embarassment were two reasons why all those eligible were not enjoying the meals.

Other reasons, the report said, include the inability or unwillingness of some districts to participate in the program, the lack of equipment to prepare food in some schools and difficulty in securing prepared lunch deliveries in remote areas.

During the 1972-73 school year 649,354 needy children received the meals, the report said, out of an estimated one million eligible.

The report said that under the Duffy-Moscone Family Nutrition Education and Services Act of 1970 the state spent $825,960 on the program last year. Federal funds accounted for much more with an average of about 48 cents per meal being paid.

In an effort to extend the lunch program, the department said it was meeting with school administrators and others in an attempt "to convince them of the importance of providing nourishing school meals to pupils."

It also said it was "exploring with private industry the possibility of designing a mobile kitchen that can be used by schools in remote areas."

In addition, the department said it was working with county welfare departments to inform needy families about the availability of the meals.

Impeachment Talk

BOSTON (UPI) — House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill said last night he expects a vote on impeachment by the full House "in the last week in July," providing the House Judiciary Committee votes to try President Nixon.

$1 Billion Pipeline Job Given

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A $1 billion contract for construction on the trans-Alaska pipeline was awarded to Fluor Corp., it was announced yesterday.

A subsidiary, Fluor Alaska Inc., will serve as manager and general contractor. The company will build the pumping stations along the pipeline and the shipping terminal at the port of Valdez.

Bechtel Corp., of San Francisco, was selected some months ago as construction management contractor for the 789-mile pipeline itself. The pipeline will be designed and run by Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., which is owned by several oil companies.

Fluor said more than 5,000 construction workers were expected to be put to work on the project by 1976. Most of the workers will be hired in Alaska.

The two stage contract calls for construction of 14 oil storage tanks at Valdez, two fixed berths and one floating berth for ships and a power plant in the first stage.

The second stage involves the construction of eight more giant storage tanks, another fixed berth for a tanker and additional pump installations.

The pipeline is expected to be completed by 1978 and will carry some 1.2 million barrels of oil daily from the North Slope.

mpeachment Hearings Will Open Next Week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The ouse Judiciary Committee has ecided to begin impeachment earings next week without aiting for the uncertain deliv-ry of more evidence from resident Nixon.

On Wednesday or Thursday, committee of Congress for the irst time in a century will mbark upon the sole constitu-ional procedure for dismissing chief executive.

The first days of hearings will e closed for sensitive evi-ence. But most sessions are xpected to be public and open o live television coverage, arely permitted in the House.

The White House signaled hat requests for more tapes ill be brushed aside.

Spokesman Gerald Warren said congressmen have "the full story of Watergate." They still seek evidence on the cover-up and campaign contributions.

The committee decided yesterday to give James D. St. E Clair, Nixon's Watergate lawyer, an active role during the hearings. St. Clair may nominate and question witnesses, present evidence, make speeches and object to questions, even from congressmen.

Some liberals protested. Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., said St. Clair, a skillful courtroom lawyer, "could turn these proceedings into a circus."

But Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., trying to avoid a split with Republicans, convinced Democrats to go along.

Even Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., an avid advocate of impeachment, acquiesced. "It is better to let him become the 39th member of the committee than to deny him his procedural rights," Drinan said of St. Clair.

Rodino would have the power to overrule St. Clair, much as a judge can rule on the objections of a lawyer in a courtroom. Rodino made clear to his Democratic colleagues, "I will not tolerate any obstruction."

At yesterday's meeting, Republicans were unsuccessful in efforts to define St. Clair's role more liberally.

For example, a 23-15 vote rejected a GOP motion to make it explicitly clear St. Clair could both "examine and cross-examine" witnesses. Instead, the committee said merely he could "question" witnesses and left further interpretation of what that meant to Rodino.

Despite the vote against his motion, Rep. David W. Dennis, R-Ind., said that "As a practical matter, you get in here and let a man question a witness at all, I'm sure he's going to cross-examine him.

"And I doubt if anybody blows the whistle and say, 'Here, you can't to do that; that's cross-examination. Ask him something else that's only a question.'"

Dennis added, "If I were Mr. St. Clair, I'd certainly try to cross-examine them, and I think he will, too... I think any lawyer would."

For the first several days the committee will hear a summary — from special counsel John M. Doar — of the evidence accumulated since last winter by a 154-member staff. Then witnesses will be called to try to fill in the gaps.

Aides Relay Word: Tape Facts Complete

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon appeared today to have made a strategic decision to stand on the release of the more than 1,200 pages of edited transcripts and resist demands for more material.

In three instances yesterday his aides took positions against furnishing requested information:

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the House impeachment committee now has "the full story of Watergate" and there are no plans to furnish tape recordings it has subpoenaed. While not closing the door to negotiation, Warren said, referring to the fat book of transcripts: "We feel that it is complete and we feel that it gives the House Judiciary Committee the facts with which to make a judgment."

On the day it was due, the President's lawyers went to federal court to block a subpoena from Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, seeking White House tape recordings to use in the Watergate cover-up trial in September. Judge John J. Sirica set a hearing for next Wednesday on the subpoena.

Under written instructions from the President, White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig, declined to answer questions by the Senate Watergate committee. It was the first time Nixon had cited the doctrine of executive privilege to bar one of his aides from testifying before this committee.

In other Watergate developments:

The U.S. Court of Appeals gave the Senate Watergate committee's appeal for original White House tapes a partial rebuff. It ordered the committee to try to make do with transcripts and copies of tapes. If the panel still needs more, the court said, it should come back and explain why.

Former presidential adviser Charles W. Colson sent federal court 5,000 newspaper clippings to back his argument that pretrial publicity would deny him a fair trial in the Watergate cover-up case. He said even the CIA "planted" derogatory stories about him.

The court-appointed panel that has been studying an 18 ½ minute gap on one of President Nixon's tapes will make a report to Judge Sirica tomorrow, it was announced.

President Lincoln was shot on April 14, 1865, and died the next day.

A Former Policeman's Auto Tip

The sharp eye of a former Novato police officer, now an auto salesman, led to the arrest of a San Francisco man who will be arraigned in Marin Municipal Court Monday on a charge of auto theft.

The salesman, Louis R. Robinette, 42, of 785 Clausing Avenue, Novato, employed by Empire Chevrolet, 7123 Redwood Highway, Novato, was driving on Highway 101 near Highway 37 Tuesday when he saw a car that had been stolen from the firm's lot earlier that evening.

According to Novato police, Robinette followed the car south to the Irwin Street offramp in San Rafael where he ramp a San Rafael police officer who gave chase and halted the car in the Strawberry area.

The driver, David R. Sims, 20, was arrested on suspicion of auto theft and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, a 16-year-old San Francisco girl who was his passenger, police said.

Sims posted $1,250 bail and is scheduled to appear in court Monday. The girl was taken to Juvenile Hall on suspicion of auto theft and being a runaway.

New Secrets Seen Outgaining Declassification Of Old Ones

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is busy with a program to declassify secrets, but it may be making new secrets as fast as it lifts security restrictions from the old ones.

A federal review board set up to monitor President Nixon's 1972 executive order revamping the system used to classify information on national security grounds said yesterday that millions of government documents and records have been declassified since 1972.

However, the panel hinted that "secret" stamps are going on new papers almost as fast as they come off the old ones.

In a report to the President, the Interagency Classification Review Committee said all 13 agencies covered by Nixon's order had made "significant progress" lifting the official wraps on material not directly involving U.S. defense and foreign policies.

The Defense Department, according to the report, cut its pile of top secret documents by 25 per cent last year alone' and similar actions were reported at the Atomic Energy Commission, the Justice Department and other agencies.

The board also said that the number of persons authorized to classify material as top secret, secret or confidential dropped from 59,316 to 17,364 — a 71 per cent reduction.

The committee acknowledged that "there is still much work to be done" and said it had not determined whether the total government inventory of classified documents and records was actually declining.

"While it is too early to see if a definite downward trend has been established, the committee has been informed by several agencies that they estimate that there have been marked reductions in the number of documents classified this year," the report said.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee has decided to begin impeachment hearings next week without waiting for the uncertain delivery of more evidence from President Nixon.

On Wednesday or Thursday, a committee of Congress for the first time in a century will embark upon the sole constitutional procedure for dismissing a chief executive.

The first days of hearings will be closed for sensitive evidence. But most sessions are expected to be public and open to live television coverage, rarely permitted in the House.

The White House signaled that requests for more tapes will be brushed aside.

Spokesman Gerald Warren said congressmen have "the full story of Watergate." They still seek evidence on the cover-up and campaign contributions.

The committee decided yesterday to give James D. St. E Clair, Nixon's Watergate lawyer, an active role during the hearings. St. Clair may nominate and question witnesses, present evidence, make speeches and object to questions, even from congressmen.

Some liberals protested. Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., said St. Clair, a skillful courtroom lawyer, "could turn these proceedings into a circus."

But Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., trying to avoid a split with Republicans, convinced Democrats to go along.

Even Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., an avid advocate of impeachment, acquiesced. "It is better to let him become the 39th member of the committee than to deny him his procedural rights," Drinan said of St. Clair.

Rodino would have the power to overrule St. Clair, much as a judge can rule on the objections of a lawyer in a courtroom. Rodino made clear to his Democratic colleagues, "I will not tolerate any obstruction."

At yesterday's meeting, Republicans were unsuccessful in efforts to define St. Clair's role more liberally.

For example, a 23-15 vote rejected a GOP motion to make it explicitly clear St. Clair could both "examine and cross-examine" witnesses. Instead, the committee said merely he could "question" witnesses and left further interpretation of what that meant to Rodino.

Despite the vote against his motion, Rep. David W. Dennis, R-Ind., said that "As a practical matter, you get in here and let a man question a witness at all, I'm sure he's going to cross-examine him.

"And I doubt if anybody blows the whistle and say, 'Here, you can't to do that; that's cross-examination. Ask him something else that's only a question.'"

Dennis added, "If I were Mr. St. Clair, I'd certainly try to cross-examine them, and I think he will, too... I think any lawyer would."

For the first several days the committee will hear a summary — from special counsel John M. Doar — of the evidence accumulated since last winter by a 154-member staff. Then witnesses will be called to try to fill in the gaps.

Aides Relay Word: Tape Facts Complete

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon appeared today to have made a strategic decision to stand on the release of the more than 1,200 pages of edited transcripts and resist demands for more material.

In three instances yesterday his aides took positions against furnishing requested information:

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the House impeachment committee now has "the full story of Watergate" and there are no plans to furnish tape recordings it has subpoenaed. While not closing the door to negotiation, Warren said, referring to the fat book of transcripts: "We feel that it is complete and we feel that it gives the House Judiciary Committee the facts with which to make a judgment."

On the day it was due, the President's lawyers went to federal court to block a subpoena from Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, seeking White House tape recordings to use in the Watergate cover-up trial in September. Judge John J. Sirica set a hearing for next Wednesday on the subpoena.

Under written instructions from the President, White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig, declined to answer questions by the Senate Watergate committee. It was the first time Nixon had cited the doctrine of executive privilege to bar one of his aides from testifying before this committee.

In other Watergate developments:

The U.S. Court of Appeals gave the Senate Watergate committee's appeal for original White House tapes a partial rebuff. It ordered the committee to try to make do with transcripts and copies of tapes. If the panel still needs more, the court said, it should come back and explain why.

Former presidential adviser Charles W. Colson sent federal court 5,000 newspaper clippings to back his argument that pretrial publicity would deny him a fair trial in the Watergate cover-up case. He said even the CIA "planted" derogatory stories about him.

The court-appointed panel that has been studying an 18 ½ minute gap on one of President Nixon's tapes will make a report to Judge Sirica tomorrow, it was announced.

President Lincoln was shot on April 14, 1865, and died the next day.

A Former Policeman's Auto Tip

The sharp eye of a former Novato police officer, now an auto salesman, led to the arrest of a San Francisco man who will be arraigned in Marin Municipal Court Monday on a charge of auto theft.

The salesman, Louis R. Robinette, 42, of 785 Clausing Avenue, Novato, employed by Empire Chevrolet, 7123 Redwood Highway, Novato, was driving on Highway 101 near Highway 37 Tuesday when he saw a car that had been stolen from the firm's lot earlier that evening.

According to Novato police, Robinette followed the car south to the Irwin Street off-ramp in San Rafael where he ramp a San Rafael police officer who gave chase and halted the car in the Strawberry area.

The driver, David R. Sims, 20, was arrested on suspicion of auto theft and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, a 16-year-old San Francisco girl who was his passenger, police said.

Sims posted $1,250 bail and is scheduled to appear in court Monday. The girl was taken to Juvenile Hall on suspicion of auto theft and being a runaway.

Nuclear Plant Is Still Closed

SAN CLEMENTE (UPI) — The San Onofre nuclear generating station, shut down since last Saturday for minor repairs, will be closed for at least another week, a Southern California Edison Co. spokesman said.

Company officials said the latest problem involves damaged blades on a blower that circulates hydrogen coolant through the plant's generator.

Disclosure Law Suspended Pending Tribunal's Study

A new state law requiring most elected and appointed officials to disclose their assets has been suspended pending a California Supreme Court decision on the validity of the law.

Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said the court had suspended the law pending its decision. The deadline to have filed the required declarations was Tuesday, but the county elections office advised all affected officials that no filing was necessary.

The issue landed in the supreme court after Nevada County officials asked it to declare the law unconstitutionally "vague and ambiguous." A Nevada County superior court judge ruled in December that all judges in the state were disqualified to rule since they themselves were covered by the law. The county's suit said the only course left was to appeal directly to the Supreme Court.

Couple Linked By Vietnam Wed

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Mrs. B.J. Cappelli waited and waited for word from her husband who was missing in action in Vietnam. Lt. Col. Wayne Waddel's wife divorced him during his captivity.

Mrs. Cappelli and Waddel met after his release and today they were to marry.

Cappelli was a MIA from Nov. 17, 1967, until last January, when his wife initiated action to have him officially declared dead.

Waddell's wife divorced him in September, 1972, while he was in a Hanoi prison camp.

The couple met at a reunion of the Red River Rats fighter pilots in Las Vegas.

Diamonds From Peanut Butter?

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Diamonds aren't peanuts, but peanut butter can become diamonds.

So says Prof. Henry O.A. Meyer, quoted in a Purdue University publication. Meyer, an expert on diamonds, says he has learned that anything with a lot of carbon in it, subjected to enough pressure and extreme heat, can be made into diamonds. Peanut butter is essentially an oil with a heavy carbon structure and is so transformable, Meyer said.

"The scientists at General Electric have actually done it," he said.

Housing Pickets Are Withdrawn

Pickets have been withdrawn from the county housing authority office in Marin City but a spokesman for the dissidents said today they may be back next week if the housing authority does not hire more Marin City residents for modernization work on public housing apartments and give community members a greater voice in planning and coordinating the modernization project.

Housing authority executive director Wallace K. Shepherd and Nesbit Crutchfield, a member of the Marin City Council composed largely of tenants of public housing, met today and yesterday to discuss complaints.

"Nothing has changed," said Crutchfield after today's meeting. "We will probably resume picketing next week."

Crutchfield and others are complaining that members of the Marin City community are not being hired in sufficient numbers for the $470,000 modernization project and that citizens have no real voice in planning and coordinating the job.

"I have indicated to Mr. Crutchfield how we are trying to work with contractors about employment," Shepherd said. "We are looking to see more jobs evolve as the project proceeds."

Shepherd said four Marin City residents are on the 12-man landscaping crew, two have been hired directly by the authority in connection with the modernization work and there currently are no community members on the three-man crew remodeling interiors of apartments.

Shepherd said all workers are back on the job after briefly walking off when pickets appeared Tuesday morning. The six-month modernization work began April 1.

A hearing Wednesday between the dissidents and officials of the housing authority and department of housing and urban development in San Francisco broke down when a request for a 10-day moratorium on the project was denied by HUD.

"Contracts have been awarded and we didn't feel to stop work now on the basis of the allegations was justified," said Erwin Farley, Director of housing management for HUD. He cited added costs from delay and adverse effect on tenants who are waiting for their homes to be refurbished.

Farley explained that his department does not specify quotas for hiring community persons and that he doubted that there are enough skilled workers in Marin City to perform interior remodeling tasks. "Some improvements (in hiring) could be made," he said.

HUD and housing authority officials have agreed to expand the tenant modernization committee, an advisory body, from seven to 15 members and to allow the members to be selected through community elections.

But Crutchfield, other members of the council and tenants representation association are not satisfied that their demands are being met. "We are supposed to be involved in the planning and direction of the project and we're not," Crutchfield charged.

Leaders of the protest said they will ask the county board of supervisors to step in with an investigation into the housing authority's handling of the modernization work.

Calley Counsel Seeking Nixon's Study Of Case

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — In a last-ditch effort to get their client freed, attorneys for Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr. have asked for a personal meeting with President Nixon before he reviews the young officer's convict in the 1968 My Lai massacre.

The President has not replied to the request yet, said J. Houston Gordon, one of Calley's three civilian lawyers. Gordon asked to see Nixon to make sure the President is fully informed on the case.

Gordon said in a telephone interview from his law office at Covington, Tenn., that Army Secretary Howard Callaway granted a similaar request before he cut the 30-year-old first lieutenant's sentence of 20 years in half. He said he hopes Nixon will approve the request.

Introducing The Original Santa Barbara Hotub

An ancient custom lost in a "civilized" world.

Tubbing, the pleasure of hot water soaking, is universal and goes back to the Beginning. Cavemen, before the invention of fire, lounged in natural sulfur pools; Adam and Eve surely were blessed with the pleasures of natural hot pools in Eden; Egyptians, Babylonians and Romans built fabulous tiled tubs. The spas of Central Europe gained early fame as Japan created its furo and Finland its sauna. In the United States it remained for contemporary California to make it fully social, where people were brought together unabashed in mixed company, sharing the bliss of the outdoor Hotub.

"So far as I know, Santa Barbara remains the hot tub capital of America, and as a public official of that part of Santa Barbara County where hot tubism was born, I invite people of all origins, creeds, and cults to investigate this aspect of our indigenous culture, to be inspired and to help spread this most civilized of customs through a deserving land." —Supervisor Frank J. Frost, Santa Barbara County

The family that "Tubs" together...

The Mystical Qualities Of The Bathing Experience.

Imagine yourself only moments out of the traffic, free at last from another day in the war of living. You're home, and even as you shed your uniform of the day, you begin anticipating the relief and pleasure of the warm comforting waters of your redwood Hotub. Clutching a cold glass of wine, you slowly descend into the gently swirling current that penetrates and massages every pore of your mind and body.

When your family and friends join you, life quickly becomes life again. You can even invite your psychiatrist.

"The hot tub temporarily shuts out this unsatisfying world and restores our sense of community. Bathed in its comforting warmth, we ritually re-enact our common origin."

—C. Burton Stone, M.D., PhD.

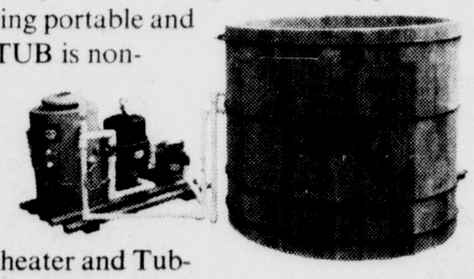
Redwood—one of nature's finest gifts.

There are many ways to construct spas — some good, a few better, one best. The Original Santa Barbara Hotub — made from only the finest select clear aged redwood.

World famous for its warmth and beauty, authentic redwood has many advantages compared to other materials. Redwood is totally compatible with water; it retains heat, acts as a natural insulator and gives off no alkalinity. The clear heart California redwood used for THE ORIGINAL SANTA BARBARA HOTUB is aged and dried by one of Northern California's most experienced cooperages. Redwood is virtually impervious to the elements, yet soft to the touch. Not slippery like fiberglass, or rough like concrete. And your redwood Hotub never needs resurfacing. It can be disassembled and, like a good friend moved with you to a new location. Set up properly, your redwood Hotub should last a lifetime . . . or two.

At last! A spa that is beautiful furniture— that everyone can afford— and everyone has space for.

Whether you own a large estate or a small rustic hideaway, you certainly have room for a HOTUB. The entire system takes up but one-tenth the square footage of the average swimming pool — less than 50 square feet. Being portable and above-ground, the HOTUB is non-assessable for property taxes. Our 6′ HOTUB holds eight-to-ten people, our 5′ unit holds six-to-eight. The HOTUB, pump, water heater and Tub-Master filter are a custom-designed intergrated unit. ("Tub-Fingers", our hydro-massage accessory of over 100 tiny air jets is available as a nominal-cost option.) The HOTUB and its support equipment are engineered to keep operating costs at an absolute minimum — about ONE-THIRD of the average spa. The purchase price is about HALF of the average spa.



THE ORIGINAL SANTA BARBARA HOTUB is available in three sizes: 6′ diameter by 5′ deep, 6′ diameter by 4′ deep and 5′ diameter by 4′ deep.

THE ORIGINAL SANTA BARBARA HOTUB is like adding a room to your life.

Masked Trio Kidnaps Paris Bank Manager

PARIS (UPI) — Three armed, masked men today kidnaped the manager of the Paris branch office of Banco de Bilbao, a leading Spanish bank, police said.

A police spokesman said officers were considering the possibility the abduction was politically motivated.

The kidnapers held up Angel Baltasar Suarez Bernardo, 43, the bank director, at 8:30 a.m. outside his home in the Western residential suburb of Neuilly, police said.

They said he was about to take his two children to school, before going to his office on the Avenue de l'Opera.

Banco de Bilbao is named for its main seat in the Basque country of Northern Spain, center of Basque nationalism.

The Paris branch officials said they had no details on the kidnaping.

Society's Building Called Landmark

I-J Special Report

ST. HELENA — The Marin County Historical Society building at 1125 B Street, San Rafael, yesterday was approved by the California Historical Landmarks Advisory Committee for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places.

A spokesman for the state Department of Parks and Recreation said the matter next will go before the department's director, William Penn Mott, but that his approval was considered virtually automatic.

If approved by Mott, the proposal will go to federal authorities.

Inclusion in the National Register would mark the building as having historical significance and also make it eligible for possible funding under the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966.

The building, owned by the City of San Rafael and adjoining Boyd Park, is sometimes called Boyd House. It was built by Ira B. Cook, grandfather of the late Louise A. Boyd, explorer and philanthropist, and stands near the one-time entrance to the Cook-Boyd estate.

Last November, the San Rafael City Council hired an architect to draw up plans and prepare cost estimates for restoration of the house, estimated to cost $50,000.

In the meantime, the council gave the historical society permission to continue using the building if the county will share part of the cost of remodeling.

DIRECTING COLLEGE PLAY

Freedom In The Bay Area

By JOAN LISETOR

"People have to get over the idea that the only worthwhile theater is happening in New York," said Anne McNaughton, director of Luigi Pirandello's "Six Characters in Search of An Author," opening tonight in the College of Marin Theater III in San Anselmo.

Miss McNaughton, the first woman director in the theater arts department at the college, has had the "New York rat race" and come back to the Bay Area, where "there is the freedom in theater to take a chance."

She and her husband, Richard Matthews, who acts under the name of Dakin Matthews, and their young son are living in Oakland.

Miss McNaughton was a student at California State University, Hayward, when she auditioned "as a lark" for the Julliard School in New York. She won the national audition and was off to New York with a full four year scholarship at the Julliard School Drama Division.

ANNE McNAUGHTON
First duties at College of Marin

THERE SHE studied voice, speech, dance, costuming, acting and other courses under some of the outstanding teachers in their fields. She is a founding member of the City Center Acting Co. and for that company directed her first play, "Coocoocumulopolis," performed off Broadway. The play was written by her husband, who also did the translation of "Six Characters" from the Italian by the playwright.

"I was off theater when we first came back from New York," Miss McNaughton said, "until I realized that it is possible to have vital, exciting, professional caliber theater without going to New York," she said.

Talent at the College of Marin is a cut above most college drama departments, she said.

"You can choose the actors and actresses you want in an audition, which is unusual in a college production. Usually you have to take those who are the least embarrassing," she said.

She enjoys working with students because of their willingness to learn, she said.

"They are excited about the play and haven't gotten into the 'ego thing' yet. They care about the right thing — the play as a whole," she said.

"Acting is a paradox. It is a selfish endeavor in one way and in another way a very generous one. The actor is saying, 'Look at me,' but he is also humbling himself by opening himself up to the audience. Everyone has a private imagination, but do you want to show it to others?"

AS A DIRECTOR she strives for simplicity and relaxation.

"Tension is the worst problem an actor can have. It repels an audience, while a realxed actors draws an audience whether or not he is a good actor," she said.

When a director first reads a play he decides how the characters should sound, where they should enter from on the stage, she said, but it is not until the actors are up on the stage that he really knows where he wants them.

"Actors give you ideas through their interpretations and personalities," she said.

"Six Characters" was said by George Bernard Shaw to be the most original play ever written. It is described as the "classic theatrical confrontation between illusion and reality."

"It is difficult to get people to a serious play, but I don't think anyone will be bored that sees 'Six Characters'," she said.

Tonight's opening will be at 8 p.m. and succeeding performances will be tomorrow and Sunday night and May 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 15, 16, 17 and 18.

Forum Explores Women In Jobs

By KAREN PETERSON

Only a small percentage of the approximately 30 million women in America's work force are part of management and this is perpetuated by executives who are often "leery of capable women," said panelists Tuesday at a day-long Sonoma State College forum, "Women in the Work Force."

Guest panelists were Mary Samis, affirmative action officer, Committee Advancing the Recognition of Equal Employment (CAREER) in Santa Rosa; Mary Noel, personnel recruiter, U.S. Civil Service Commission in San Francisco; Pat Neitling, student and teacher of the "Out of the Frying Pan" course at Sonoma State; Dr. Mary Longland, attorney and coordinator of Veterans Affairs at Solano Community College, and Ann Hattum, manager, Employment Development Department, Sonoma.

"Women have got to be better than and more than (qualified) to be considered" for decision-making and administrative jobs, said Dr. Longland, who is also a major in the Army Reserve. "The key is education. If it means anything to you (the job), then you have got to work your way up there," she said.

Although all the panelists were women who were active in decision-making, Mrs. Samis warned that discrimination still exists though it's "not as open now."

There are "insidious discriminatory things" from management, said Dr. Longland, like "when you want to help people up the line and they put a line on it." An example of this, she said, was her attempt to hire a clerical worker with a college degree so that she could train her for promotion. Management, she said, refused because the girl had "too high of an education."

"When you get a man in a 'woman's' job," said Mrs. Samis, "they don't take it. Salaries go up, recognition goes up."

"It's a mistake we have of working for less money," continued Dr. Longland, "(You) have to say I will not take it unless I get the same pay as the man."

Women also have to be flexible and mobile, she said, "We have to take the job wherever it is and ride with the times and see how things are going."

MRS. SAMIS, who was a lobbyist in Sacramento for the National Organization for Women, outlined the laws prohibiting sex discrimination. Examples of sex discrimination in employment, she said, are paying a man and a woman different wages for performing the same work, refusing to let female employees use disability insurance or sick leave for pregnancy and related illnesses, passing female employees over for promotion when they are just as qualified, and asking questions such as "Can you type?" when they are not job-related.

Most discrimination against women occurs in oral interviews, she added, and if there is a choice, applicants should ask for a taped interview. And any such questions asked should also be asked of male applicants, she said.

A recent Supreme Court decision made it illegal for employers to ask any questions that would have a "disparate impact on women" such as marital status and number of children, she said. These questions are asked of women because employers "assume" they would not be free to travel, that they would have problems with child care and therefore not be practical for employment.

"Any required test that has disparate impact. . .must be job related," she warned, and if not, the woman can file a complaint with the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

One of the "strong tools" for women is Executive Order 11478 which "forbids discrimination in federal employment and requires each executive department agency to have a continuing affirmative action plan" she said. This was also extended to all employers with government contracts of more than 50 employees and more than $50,000 in contracts.

AFFIRMATIVE ACTION, she said, requires that employers "examine policies to see that they aren't discriminatory" and "see where women are underutilized and go out and seek them." Even with the law there are ways of getting around it, she added, and some say "they don't have qualified applicants when they do."

Affirmative Action is not reverse discrimination, she stressed, because previously if an Anglo man and a Chicana had applied for the job with the same qualifications, it would have been the Anglo man who would have been hired.

Now businesses are contacting women and minority organizations to seek them out for employment and giving "special encouragement to women and minority men."

During the afternoon session women from the community who work in jobs that once were traditionally filled by men discussed their work with the large audience that wandered in and out of the lounge between classes.

Joan Johnson, a revenue agent with the Internal Revenue Service in Santa Rosa, said getting to her position "was a long uphill drag. My job now is education that women are capable . . . I have to carry the ball in another sense for women," she said.

Sally Higbe, employment interviewer with Pacific Telephone Co. in Santa Rosa, said that for two years she has been on a special assignment to recruit women within the company "for what were traditionally male, outside jobs."

WITH HER was Mandy Stermer who was once a clerical worker and is now a telephone installer.

"The work is dirty and hard but I do get a lot of satisfaction out of it. I know when I have done good work," she said of her two years on the job. "The men tease me a lot . . . but it's not good to force myself on others. I don't force my opinions on them. I look at it with an open mind and take teasing in stride," she added.

NEW SURVEY

Major Goal: A Happy Family Life

GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Happiness is the family. But the happy family may exclude children for the early years of a marriage.

The happy family life came over more strongly than the goals of career or making a lot of money in the latest study of American attitudes.

The study, part of a continuing one on U.S. social attitades, was commissioned by the Institute of Life Insurance, an organization to tell the public what's going on in the life insurance business and to tell insurance people what's going on with the public.

The institute outlined the questions which the research firm of Daniel Yankelovich Inc. put to persons aged 18 on up to 65 and over. More than 2,000 persons were questioned in a eross-section of society which included whites, non-whites, high school, college and postcollege graduates, single, married and widowed.

Males and females responded almost equally. And overwhelmingly—80 per cent—listed "a happy family life" as a more important goal than a "fulfilling career," the "opportunity to develop as an individual," or "making a lot of money."

Three out of four persons also agreed with the statement: "The traditional family is important to Americans and should be preserved." Fewer than one in 10 disagreed.

The institute said that, "While persons 30 years of age or older were more disposed to vote for 'a happy family life' than those younger, nevertheless, 58 per cent of those between 18 and 24 and 68 per cent of the 25-29 age bracket listed it as their most important goal.

As for those over 30, the vote for the happy family life as the goal ran 85 per cent and higher.

The study showed strong indications, however, that expectations about the form of the family unit are undergoing changes.

One question concerned whether it was "perfectly all right" for married people to choose not to have children.

Mathew Greenwald, research associate at the institute, said 52 per cent agreed to a couple's right not to have children. Some 23 per cent "agreed strongly." The remainder either was unsure or answered "probably."

To the question of whether young marrieds should delay children for a few years, until they'd had some time together, 54 per cent favored the delay, 29 per cent had no strong opinions, and the rest disagreed.

The importance of career fulfillment turned out to be relatively unimportant, after all. Only 4 per cent called it most important in their life values, 28 per cent put it second in consideration, 47 ranked it third, and the rest called it least important.

Twelve per cent ranked opportunity to develop as an individual most important, 41 per cent ranked it second, 30 per cent put it third, 14 per cent the least and 2 per cent gave no answer.

Who said making a lot of money is important! An amazing 63 per cent called it least important of their goals. An equal number—16 per cent—ranked it second and third in importance, 1 per cent didn't answer, and only 3 per cent called it paramount.

Something Different

The maid or matron of honor usually is set off from the other bridesmaids by some difference in her dress. It may be only that her bouquet or headpiece is different, or her gown may be completely different in style or color.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Busybody From Another Store Makes Their Jobs Miserable

DEAR HELEN:

I am a clerk in a retail store that is unlike any other I know. All of us get along truly better than do some families.

The assistant to the general manager of the main store downtown is our only problem. He lives in the vicinity of our suburban store and occasionally drops in "unoffically."

This man never has a good word to say to anyone and downgrades everything from the work force to the decor. He is an insufferable boor who claims to have studied psychology — in a snake pit no doubt. He bad mouths everyone who shows any independence and has a patting (roving) hand for those unfortunates who depend on this job for a living. He carries tales and enlarges little incidents to major catastrophies.

Outside of: 1. Praying for him; 2. Quitting; 3. Just staring him down; what recourse do we have? — GETTING SHAFTED BY A BOOR

DEAR GSBB:

Try Numbers 1 and 3, but substitute for Number 2 a complaint to the store chain's top man, signed by all you suburban workers.

A manager's assistant has no right throwing his weight around in another manager's bailiwick, and your manager should be the first to tell him! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I was shocked at the viciousness of the writer who heaped abuse on you and Sue for your answers to the seduced and pregnant 12-year-old. He seemed to think that bearing an unwanted child would "teach her a lesson," and that Planned Parenthood was an organization of the devil. Not so!

To suggest that a mere child should not get an abortion, but should be encouraged to continue the pregnancy is utterly cruel. It is a medical fact that young teen-agers have difficult pregnancies, with more risk to mother and baby. Most important, the lasting emotional and psychological effects of childbirth on a girl of 12 would probably be devastating, and certainly profound — if she survived the ordeal.

How about some compassion for the living, rather than the unborn? This maudlin concern for the "rights" of embryos, above the right of women and girls is utterly inhumane. Bringing a baby into the world is a serious and beautiful experience; it should take place only when the woman is physically and emotionally prepared — for the baby's sake as much as for hers. — MOTHER OF SIX

P.S. I wonder if this man would feel differently if it were his 12-year-old who had been seduced?

DEAR HELEN:

You urge women who are raped to report it. Outside of the horrors of interrogation and a possible court case (admittedly, this is changing to make things easier on women), there's the family angle to consider. Some husbands, or boyfriends, or fathers — even a few mothers — just can't take the fact of rape.

I was attacked by a man I knew slightly at my office. He kept me after work on "business," and forced me to submit, then told me that if I reported him, he'd say I asked for it. I did report him. I couldn't prove the charges, and we didn't go to court.

But I am now divorced. My husband was never sure who was telling the truth. He couldn't take "sharing" me. Perhaps other men are more understanding, but if I had it to do over again, I would never have told. — VICTIM

Not So Fussy

Bridesmaids dresses should not be so fussy that they detract from the bride's gown.

Novato Rite Unites Two In Marriage

Deborah Ann Wolfe and Robert David Dinger were married at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato on Sunday.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Wolfe of Novato, chose Lori Sue Winterboer as her maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Janet Boss and the bride's sister, Becky Wolfe, all of Novato.

James McHale of San Francisco was best man and ushers were Randy Swift of Belmont and Mike Barbera of San Rafael.

The wedding reception was held at Pickering's restaurant in Novato. The couple went on a wedding trip to Carmel and Santa Cruz. They will live in Novato.

The bride was graduated from San Marin High School and is employed at Wells Fargo Bank in Novato. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bodkin of Wheeling, W. Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Dinger of San Anselmo are the bridegroom's parents. He was graduated from Redwood High School and is employed at Wells Fargo Bank in San Francisco. He is the grandson of Mrs. Marie Dinger of San Anselmo and Mrs. Elva Pease of Colorado Springs, Colo.

The Gown's Back

The backs of bridesmaids dresses should be interesting, as the backs will be seen most during the ceremony, the bridesmaids facing the altar.

Program For Series Finale Is Announced

"The Best Medicine is Preventive," will be the topic for the final Women and Health Care series program Thursday at the Marin Young Women's Christian Association, 1618 Mission Avenue, San Rafael.

Nutrition, medication and their effect on each other will be among the topics for the discussion, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. The series is sponsored by the Marin Women's Health Collective, Woman's Way and the YWCA.

ON BEING BLACK

Catch Up Game In Basic Skills

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate

SALT LAKE CITY — One of black folks' greatest concerns in the massive "catch up" game is that many youngsters have difficulties with the basic skills of reading and writing.

Translating thought onto paper — writing — is a skill developed basically by doing. Cleotis — Johnny's black counterpart — can't write (mostly) " 'cause he don't."

Historically, black people in this country have not written things down on paper. They were brought here under duress, and native languages were virtually wiped out. Teaching a "nigger" to read and write was considered a cardinal sin to most slaveholders, for there was no greater troublemaker than a "smart nigger."

Consequently, much of our history has been passed down verbally in the forms of folk tales, spirituals and so on. That was adequate for those times, but times is changed. Today, for our children to compete — survive — they must acquire pen power.

AS A COLUMNIST who receives many letters, it has been interesting to note the different responses from blacks and whites. Generally, white people write their thoughts. Black people tell me — in church, on the street, at a party, in the schools — if they liked or disliked a given column.

I suspect some of our youngsters have picked up a certain psychological resistance to putting things down on paper. A conscious, concentrated effort must be made by parents and adults to overcome this resistance.

Over the years I have tried to encourage my own children (ages 11, 7 and 3) to write. As they write letters to grandparents and other relatives, they begin to understand the process of translating thought onto paper.

Also, they must write thank-you notes (in addition to verbal thank yous) for personal kindnesses as well as for birthday and Christmas gifts.

FROM AGE 5, a child can keep a daily diary. This may require parental input, and just before bed is a good time to discuss the events and feelings of the day and decide what deserves notation. "I didn't do anything fun on April 8" is amusing to read at the end of the year. Writing facilitates writing.

At our family council meetings (I'm dictator incognito), one of the rules of order is that "activity proposals" — swimming on Tuesday, making cookies on Wednesday or whatever — must be submitted on paper. Writing this way becomes second nature and effortless.

Journal writing is another art form I particularly like — for adults as well as children. One of my college students, the only black to make a recent 28-day-survival-in-the-wilderness trip, kept a journal of his adventures for the first time in his life. A poor reader and writer all of his school years, he was surprised at how profound his thoughts, feelings and ideas expressed on paper could be — even for a self-designated slow learner.

If Cleotis can't write 'cause he don't — it's time to change that.

Words To Wives

NEW YORK (UPI) — It says in the Bible, Ephesians 5:22 - "Wives, submit yourselfs unto your own husbands as unto the Lord."

VOWS SAID IN SAN ANSELMO

Mary Patricia Milliken and Samuel Blake Chapman exchanged vows in a ceremony at Robson-Harrington Park in San Anselmo, the former estate of the bride's great-great aunt and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Woods. Mary is the daughter of the William J. Millikens of San Anselmo, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Chapman of Tiburon are the bridegroom's parents. The couple will live in San Rafael.

Henry C. Hall School P-TA Elects Officer

New president of the Henry C. Hall Parent-Teacher Association is Joan Corbett of Larkspur.

Hot dog lunches and a book fair are planned as fund raising activities to provide monthly assemblies, fine arts classes, additional materials, health and safety projects, more physical education equipment and possibly a child care program.

"Our goal is to obtain the best possible education for our children by promoting a wide range of parent and teacher cooperation," Mrs. Corbett said.

A native of New York, Mrs. Corbett attended Massachusetts General Hospital School of Nursing. Her husband, Laurence W. Corbett Jr., is a supply coordinator for Standard Oil Co. of California. The family first moved to Marin 14 years ago and have moved in and out a few times. Their children are Chip, 15, Marc, 12, and Stacy, 8.

MRS. LAURENCE W. CORBETT JR.
P-TA president

Rediscovering Marin is Mrs. Corbett's favorite pastime.

Other new P-TA officers are Mmes. August Colenbrander, vice president; Richard Luther, recording secretary; Richard Erickson, corresponding secretary; Jack Cook, treasurer; Graham Campbell, parliamentarian, and Ronald Evans, historian. Bill Gerritz is second vice president, and Bob Cirese is auditor.

vention specialist with the Petaluma Police Department, said her co-workers probably "don't take me seriously yet . . . that's the only drawback" to her work.

She hopes to become a detective with the department, working with juveniles. Juvenile crime is considered nonviolent crime but it also includes rape, she said. Men have a different idea about rape, especially men in the police department, she said.

"There is a definite feeling that a virgin constitutes whether a woman was raped or not raped," she said, and there has to be a lot of reeducation of both men and women.

Patrolmen have a definite dislike of having women patrolmen with them in the car, she said, but added she was going to be "10 per cent better when I get out of the academy because I'm going to try harder."

The forum was coordinated by Priscilla Ewing, placement associate, Career Planning and Placement Center.

Franklin's Words On Choosing Wife

NEW YORK (UPI) — When looking for a wife, try to find out if the woman you like has been a dutiful daughter.

In Poor Richard's Almanac, Benjamin Franklin cautioned: "An undutiful daughter will prove an unmanageable wife."

A Rare Public Endorsement Is Made For Glenn

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis made her first political statement in at least 10 years yesterday when she taped a special endorsement for Ohio Democratic senatorial candidate John Glenn.

"John Glenn's leadership would be a shining light in the United States Senate," she said.

Mrs. Onassis told the former astronaut's aide, Jim Dunn, "I have never done anything political for anyone before, but I feel that both I and the country have an obligation to John Glenn."

Old Adobe To Ask For Hiring Fund

The old adobe school district in Petaluma will apply for federal emergency employment funds to hire nine persons for the 1974-75 school year district trustees decided last night.

The application, according to Supt. Dean D. Magowan, is for about $50,000 to pay teacher aides, custodians and nurse's aides whom the district hopes to hire through a federal program designed to provide on-the-job training to unemployed persons.

Magowan said he expects to know within several months whether the district will be allocated enough money for all the positions. The application will be submitted through the Sonoma County superintendent of schools.

Trustees also reviewed Old Adobe's disaster preparedness policy required each year by state law, and adjourned until their next regular meeting at 7:45 p.m. May 9 at the district office, 1600 Albin Way.

Fonda Gets A Pacemaker

NEW YORK (UPI) — Actor Henry Fonda yesterday had a pacemaker implanted in his chest as a "precaution against a heart rhythm disorder," a spokesman for Lenox Hill Hospital said.

The 68-year old Fonda, who collapsed following a performance of his one-man play, "Clarence Darrow," was admitted to Lenox Hill April 23 for what an associate called "exhaustion".

The hospital spokesman said the pacemaker, which electrically stimulates the heart, was implanted "as a safety precaution against a heart rhythm disorder."

Case Sent To Superior Court

A San Rafael man was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of burglarizing the same San Rafael residence twice.

Gregory Crawford Gocher, 22, was ordered to appear May 16 following a preliminary hearing in which Municipal Judge Peter Allen Smith ruled there was enough evidence to hold him.

Gocher is charged with burglarizing the Meta S. Katzoff home March 13 and 15.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Child's Ability Said Curbed By Spankings

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Repeatedly spanking a school child or threatening him with corporal punishment stunts his ability to handle mathematical problems, a Berkeley psychologist says.

"Corporal punishment is very destructive," Dr. Adah Maurer told the State Equal Educational Opportunities Commission yesterday.

Open House Sunday

Three Marin men, Arthur C. Latno Jr. and Thomas M. Quigg of San Rafael and Robert W. Giacomini of Point Reyes Station, members of the Hanna Boys' Center board of directors, will be among the hosts at the center's annual open house Sunday from 1 to 4:30 p.m. The center is located near Sonoma.

The psychologist said although more research is needed it now appears that a happy, secure child will delight in arithmetic.

"In one school where corporal punishment was abolished," she said, "the reading scores went up, and the math scores went zoom."

Dr. Maurer appeared before the commission, which is appointed by the state Board of Education, to urge support of a bill which would ban corporal punishment of handicapped children.

In her testimony, Dr. Maurer, vice president of the Committee to End Violence Against the Next Generation, said nationwide the trend is away from corporal punishment.

Felony Charge Against Texan Is Dismissed

A felony assault charge against a Texan was dismissed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court when the district attorney was unable to produce two Hells Angels who were the object of the alleged attack.

Released was Edwin Eugene Nowak, 26, of Houston.

Nowak was arrested April 19 and charged with firing a shot from a pistol at two members of the San Rafael Hells Angels outside the Boathouse restaurant in Sausalito. The shot missed the two men and hit a parked car, Sausalito police said.

Municipal Judge David R. Baty dismissed the case, citing the district attorney's failure to prosecute.

A second Houston man, Michael Lawrence Whitfield, 33, arrested with Nowak, never was charged.

Lavish Feast Ready For Princess Meg

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Preparations are under way at Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's house for a grand party in honor of Princess Margaret and her husband, who are here for the 100th running of the Kentucky Derby.

Place-settings for 200 have been prepared in the atrium, overlooking the pool and gardens in the rear of the estate, called Maple Hill. Chefs flown in from various areas of the world have been at work in several kitchens throughout Lexington preparing gastronomic delights.

Two bands are booked and the Whitney emeralds have been polished for Mrs. Whitney's dress — designed specifically for tonight's formal party.

"Sonny (C.V. Whitney) will be seated with the Princess and I will be with the Earl," said Mrs. Whitney, "but we'll move around during the party."

Guests will find their dinner seats from place cards made of silk butterflies.

The scene of the party is a house containing wood from the log cabin built on the site in the 1790s, and finally expanded by the Whitneys in the late 1950s to it present several dozen rooms.

Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon, celebrating their 14th anniversary, will stay in the Whitney's guest house, said to be just as lavish but off limits to reporters.

"Maple Hill is a happy hill and Whitney House is a happy house — for it has seen more joy than it has unhappiness," said Mrs. Whitney.

Expert Sees Shortage Of Farm Labor

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A University of California agriculture economist yesterday forecast a shortage of farm labor workers during the state's peak harvest period this year.

"Increased plantings of such high value labor intensive crops as grapes, tree nuts and fruits are pushing seasonal labor requirements higher," said Dr. John Mamer of UC Berkeley.

In a report to the state Board of Food and Agriculture, Mamer said the number of California agricultural workers during employment peaks declined from 480,000 in 1966 to 424,000 in 1972.

"More farm laborers are needed each year at the peak harvest time in California, even though there are fewer individuals working in agriculture," he said.

Mamer said that based on the present and projected average of 26 crops that are major users of seasonal labor, 13,000 new seasonal workers will be needed in 1974 compared to the total for 1973.

And, he added, "in September of 1975 about 31,000 more seasonal workers will be employed than in 1973."

Mamer also said that in the past several years the number of illegal immigrants from Mexico "has been a part of the seasonal farm labor force."

"If the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization effectively stops the flow of illegal immigrants, the labor demand-supply situation could become even more difficult," he added.

To combat the seasonal labor problem, Mamer suggested that:

Out-of-state recruitment be expanded to create a larger labor pool.

The number of women and youth employed in agriculture be substantially increased.

More foreign workers who return to their homes during the off-season be allowed to work.

Broader application of "modern labor management" be applied to seasonal farm work, including incentive pay and fringe benefits. "This would induce more of the workers to work longer periods of time," Mamer said.

Mamer also said there was an "enormous wastage of manpower in directing willing workers from areas in which they have completed work, to areas which their services are needed.

"Modern labor management which recognizes worker needs and provides adequate packages of benefits and incentives needs to be coupled with an effective mechanism for matching workers with jobs," Mamer said.

U.S. Steel Will Make Well Casing

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — U.S. Steel Corp. announced yesterday that it would produce 4.5 inch oil well casing atits weld mill in Lorain, Ohio, to meet the demands of independent gas and oil producers.

The company said the casing was a new product which can be used to case wells up to 5,000 feet in depth. Independent operators have had difficulty in acquiring oil well tubular goods recently, the firm said.

Sometimes Your Opponent's Bad Guess Is Only Hope To Survive

Put your opponent to the guess whenever you can. He is bound to guess wrong part of the time. In some positions, your opponent's bad guess is your only hope. Imagine that you are West in today's hand, and see if you can give South a hard time.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

GOES HIGH

You open the queen of hearts, and your partner captures the king with his ace. Back comes a heart, and you win. You lead a club to dummy's king.

When your partner fails to produce the ace of clubs, you know that you need two trump tricks to defeat the contract.

Declarer leads the singleton trump from dummy. East plays the ten, and South plays the king. You must play a low trump without hesitation and without apparent thought.

DECISIVE CLUE

South will have a decisive clue if you ponder before refusing the first trump trick. He will know that you have the ace of trumps; and he will be forced to hope that East's play of the ten was from the doubleton J-10. Hence South will continue with the queen of spades and will make his contract.

EVEN WORSE

Your situation would be even worse if you won the first trump trick with your ace. South would be forced to lead the queen of spades next, and this would capture the jack.

Remember this position. You have A-x-x of trumps, and dummy can lead the suit only once. Be ready to refuse the first trick very casually.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - A 6 2
♥ - Q J 10 4
♦ - 10 9 5 4
♣ - 7 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one heart.

The question is whether to raise diamonds or show the weak four-card major suit. If partner's suit were a major, you would raise it; since it is a minor, you respond in your own suit.

Ford Head Sees Need For Air Rules Delay

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. president Lee A. Iacocca today said auto emission standards should be toughened only after scientific evidence can show a significant health risk under the present standards.

Iacocca said the 1975-model cars that go on sale this fall will eliminate 75 per cent of the three major pollutants compared to cars of seven years ago. He repeated past criticism that the clean air act of 1970 "was passed laying out the solution before the details of the problem were known."

Iacocca made the remarks during the opening of the Ford exhibit at Expo '74 here. He said many businessmen are not willing to spend money called for by environmentalists "when the added costs do not produce added benefits."

The Ford president said that although the average American is interested in a clean environment, he is "not interested to the exclusion of his job, an adequate supply of gasoline and heating oil, or concern over the rising cost of living."

He said one area which requires careful re-examination is the Clean Air Act "which set what we think are unreasonably stringent standards for automotive emissions."

The original 1975 clean air standards for cars have already been delayed one year in all states but California and a measure now in Congress would delay them for up to two more years.

Iacocca repeated the company's contention that the Environmental Protection Agency, the National Academy of Sciences and others should continue their medical and atmospheric studies to determine the health effects of vehicle emissions.

"If scientific evidence shows a significant health risk under the present standards, then and only then should tougher standards be considered," Iacocca said. "Even if the standards in effect for 1975 models were kept in place for several years, the air would continue to get cleaner as old cars were retired in favor of new cars with the latest controls."

Ohio Petroleum Group Sues Senator For Libel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The Ohio Petroleum Marketers Association today filed an $11 million suit against U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, charging that he had libeled the oil industry, according to Bob Host, an official of the association.

Host said the suit was filed in Franklin County Common Pleas Court and charged Metzenbaum with using his television campaign to libel the oil industry.

Metzenbaum has consistenly accused the oil industry of rigging the gasoline shortage to send up prices. The suit asked for $1 million in compensatory damages and $10 million in punitive damages, Host said.

Metzenbaum, in a statement issued by his Cleveland office, said that Roger Dreyer, executive director of the association, is one of the largest contributors to his opponent in the Democratic senatorial primary — John Glenn.

"By the end of the last reporting period, he had contributed $1,250 to the Glenn campaign," said Metzenbaum.

Metzenbaum said the suit leaves "little doubt about who the oil industry supports in this election.

"John Glenn is obviously their candidate, and that is the way it should be," said Metzenbaum. "He with the oil companies. I with the public.

"I shall not be intimidated by this latest attempt of the oil industry to silence me," said Metzenbaum. "I shall keep the pressure on the oil companies until they desist from their exploitation of the Ohio motorist."

Lagunitas Study Plan Is Denied

The Lagunitas School District Board has denied a request from some parents to extend the district's advanced basic capability program to the seventh and eighth grade.

When it took the action Wednesday night, the board felt that not enough parents were interested, according to Supt. Harry F. Roche.

The program which stresses academic study, is now being used in kindergarten through sixth grade, he said. It is one of three programs in the district. The others are academic plus which gives the students more of a choice of electives and stresses parents help in the classroom, and the open classroom program in which children of all grades occupy one classroom and have greatest freedom to pursue their own interests, Roche said.

The board received a petition with 80 signatures of parents asking that the programs be more integrated for part of the school day so that children would have more contact with the other children and teachers, Roche said.

Roche reported that for next year, 85 students have asked for the ABC program; 125 for open classroom program and 118 for the academic plus program. There are still 77 program cards to be returned, he said.

The Lagunitas School District Board also:

APPLICATION — Received a report from Roche that he had submitted applications for early child education funds and if approved by the state, it would mean an additional $44,000 to the district.

HEARING — Was notified that the Marin County Planning Commission would hold a public hearing on May 20 on the abandonment of a portion of Castro Street on which there is a bus stop for Lagunitas School.

SITE — Heard that the Tamalpais High School District Citizens Advisory Committee is studying what to do with a high school site on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at San Geronimo Valley Drive. The board asked that the site be left for open space if not used for a school.

CLOSED — Held a closed meeting to instruct Roche in negotiations with the teachers on their request for a 10 per cent increase in pay.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m., May 15 in the Lagunitas School.

Drivers Will Eye Bus Strike Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Striking bus drivers scheduled a union meeting for tonight to discuss their two-day-old walkout, which has left Washington with only taxi cabs as public transportation.

The meeeting of local 689 of the Amalgamated Transit Workers Union was called to discuss the membership's stand in the strike, which continued in the face of a court injunction. More than 3,000 drivers, mechanics and clerks were involved.

During the first day of the strike yesterday, Washington and surrounding portions of Maryland and Virginia were mired in a day-long traffic jam.

Another Italian Entry—Luisa's Palate In Downtown Mill Valley

There was a time when Italian restaurants held a strong lead among Marin County eating places.

They are still ahead, but the lead is so slim it would take only a couple of new openings of those favoring French cuisine to put Italian menus in second place. In Sonoma County the picture is a little different. French restaurants have been moving up, but the Italians still outnumber them.

Helping to maintain that precarious Italian lead in Marin is a new place in Mill Valley — Luisa's Palate Italian Restaurant. It is located on Throckmorton Avenue where the old Palate used to be. New owner Luisa Hansen, besides changing the name, has done a lot of remodeling. The bar has been taken out, giving more table room and the dining room now seats about 85. There is no hard liquor, so wines and beers are served at the table.

Mrs. Hansen has been in the restaurant business a long time, about 18 years. She has four other places in San Francisco — one on Geary Street near Union Square. The one in Mill Valley, however, is her only eating place that specializes in Italian food. She has a partner in this venture, Sirio Galli, and he has laid out the menu molto bene.

Luisa's is an easy-to-take family spot. Food is nicely prepared. Prices are moderate. Veal dishes, scaloppine, marsala, dore, piccata and parmigiana are $4.75, served with soup or salad, spaghetti or ravioli and a vegetable. Saltimbocca is $5.35. My wife and I had the veal piccata and dore respectively. Portions were generous and the food was molto buono.

Chicken dishes — al forno, saute sec and cacciatora — are $3.95 to $4.35. Items from the broiler — steaks and chops and roast beef are from $4.25. A 16-ounce New Yorker will cost you $6.95. There are several seafoods through the week and fresh fish specials on Fridays. The a la carte pasta list is a long one and there are also appetizers, salads and omelets. There's a good house wine and a number of popular labels.

Altogether it's a nicely balanced Italian menu. Sirio has been in the business long enough himself to see to that. Lunch menu offers such items as roast beef and spaghetti, pot roast and spaghetti, steak sandwiches, several other sandwiches and burgers — all ranging from $1.50 to $3.50.

Hours are from 11:30 a.m. to 10:30 at night, with food service all the way through. Dinner service starts at 5:30. Day of closing is Monday.

Outlook from Luisa's rear windows is pleasant and arboreal in the Mill Valley fashion. There's a nice rear deck with tables.

THE RECENTLY OPENED Chez Pierre in San Anselmo will start serving lunches on Monday. Hours will be from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Dinners are on a six days a week schedule, including Sundays and Mondays. No dinners on Tuesdays.

Daytime is when you get the best view overlooking Ross Valley.

SAN ANSELMO'S OTHER French restaurant, La Chaumiere on San Anselmo Avenue, has now stopped its lunches completely. It is also closing now on Sundays and Mondays and remaining open Tuesdays for dinners. Changes like these often come within a few months of an opening. It takes a while to adjust to a restaurant's particular flow of customers.

Dinner reservations are still necessary at La Chaumiere — more so than ever. Georges Lebugle now tells me that to be on the safe side they should be made a full week ahead.

THERE ARE OFTEN fringe benefits for dining out early in the week.

For instance, if you have had the $6.75 prime rib dinner served at the Executive Lounge in San Rafael on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, you can now enjoy the same meal, complete with soup, salad, potato and fresh vegetable, for $3.75.

Mind you, that's only on Tuesdays, but it's still a good deal.

POPULAR RESTAURANT AND NIGHT SPOT entertainer Nancy Valencia has turned producer and is presenting her first jazz concert Sunday at the Marin County Veterans Memorial Theater building from 4 to 6 p.m.

She's presenting Turk Murphy and his band from San Francisco and the Chris Ibanez Trio, which has made many appearances in Marin. There will be other headline artists and of course, Nancy, herself, will be in the action.

If you have heard her accompanying herself at the organ at such places as Sabella's, Deer Park Villa, Le Tonneau, San Rafael Joe's, Marin Joe's, New Joe's or in some of the other lounges, now is your chance to find out what she can do with an orchestra background.

Tickets may be secured at the box office.

THAT OTHER BUSY restaurant day of the year, Mother's Day, will be here May 12. Perhaps it's not quite as busy as Easter, but almost. Advance reservations are not a bit out of line.

First restaurant to report on its Mother's Day plans is Topolino in Sausalito. It will serve its regular menu and $5.50 complete dinners ($3 for children). Service will start at 4 p.m.

Following Mother's Day, Topolino will go on a six days a week schedule, staying open on Mondays and closing on Tuesdays.

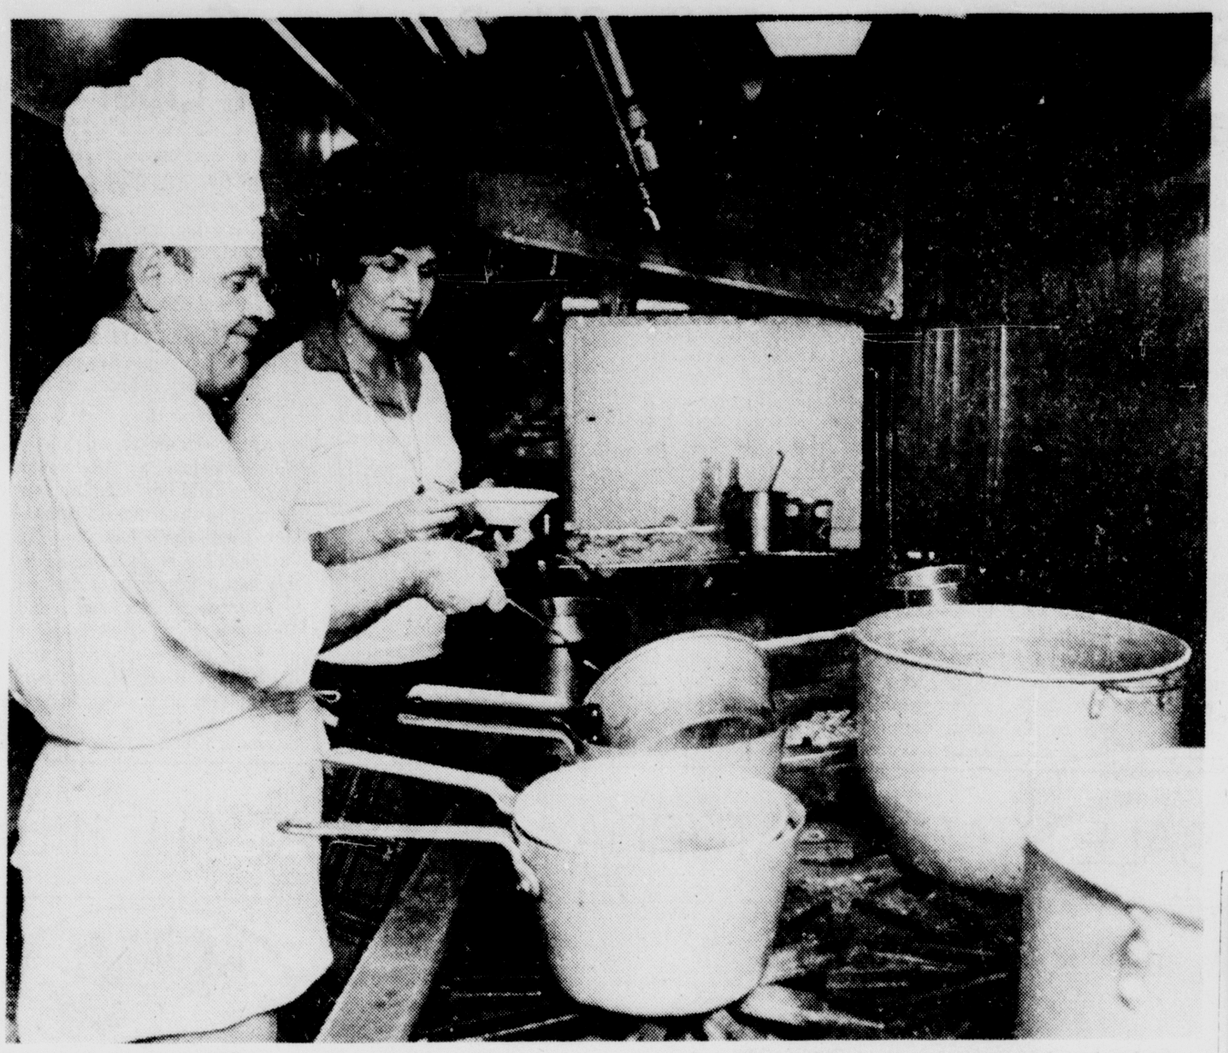
Parking is no problem here. There's an off-street facility in the rear.

EVER GET to San Diego?

We did for a few days last week and naturally took in a few of the eating places. Generally they are very good for a tourist city. Prices are about in the same range as they are in Marin. There are French menus, South Seas menus, seafood menus and quickie menus. There are a lot of places on Harbor and Shelter Islands.

But one place we visited that should appeal to you if you are a confirmed steak eater is the Butcher Shop. It's not on any tourist guide that I have seen, although some outsiders like ourselves managed to discover it, it was easy to see. But its heavy patronage is by the local residents. It's located in the Plaza International Hotel at Hotel Center in Mission Valley.

The menu is what appeals to you — a large platter of raw steaks under cellophane brought to you by the waitress — filets and New Yorks — so you can see exactly what you're getting. Prices are $5.95 to $7.95, including baked potato, salad and good French garlic bread (I'm told that the bread is imported from the Bay Area which has the best). Prime rib is $6.95. Choice ground sirloin is $2.95 and $3.95. The meat is terrific — thick, juicy and tender.



LUISA'S PALATE — There has been a change in Mill Valley. Luisa Hanson has taken over the Palate and has renamed it after herself. The bar has been removed and more tables added. Shown preparing food in the kitchen with her is Romano Guigovaz. Her partner in the new venture is Sirio Galli.

GETTING SET — Donald Walker, design superintendent of the Mountain Play, gets ready one of the rough buildings that will be part of the set for "Rough 'N' Ready," this year's show in the amphitheater atop Mount Tamalpais. At this point yesterday, it appeared Walker had his work cut out for him to be prepared for Sunday's performance.

OPENS SUNDAY

Mountain Play To Be Revived

The Mountain Play on Mount Tamalpais will be revived with a production of "Rough'N' Ready" at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Mountain Theater.

Last year was the first since the end of World War II that there was no play in the stone-seated amphitheater on the mountaintop. Sagging membership in the 61-year-old Mountain Play Association was blamed.

A bolstered association this year is presenting three performances, beginning Sunday and continuing at 2 p.m. May 11 and 12.

"Rough'N' Ready," a musical recreation of the roaring days of the California gold rush, was written originally for the California Centennial by Dan Totheroh, a longtime resident of Mill Valley now living in Berkeley.

It is set in 1850 in the Mother Lode town of Rough 'N' Ready, an actual village four miles west of Grass Valley.

In that year, the citizenry, angered over heavy taxation, voted to secede from the union. Although not taken seriously by the government, Rough 'N' Ready proclaimed itself a free state and formed its own republic. In 1958, it rescinded its order of secession in order to get a U.S. post office.

This year's production is directed by James Funk with original music by Christy LaBianca, both of Mill Valley. Starring are Funk, Linda Maki, David Baker, Diane Baugois, Roger Peacock and John Henry. Choreographer is James Piersall of Mill Valley.

The play is a look through the eyes of writer Bret Harte at the tumultuous events in the mining camp built around the golden vein of the Comstock Mine.

The first Mountain Play was presented for 1,200 hikers on a crisp Sunday in 1913. It went on annually until 1924, when the mountaintop was closed by an epidemic of hoof and mouth disease.

The theater was dark again from 1942 through 1945, when the Army used the grounds as part of its coastal defense system during the second World War. Last year, the association held a picnic on the mountain as part of a drive for new members.

This year, there will be no parking near the theater. Free parking will be available in the south lot at Stinson Beach State Park. Buses will shuttle playgoers to the top of the mountain beginning at 11 a.m.

Organizer Roger Peacock Advises persons to leave home early to avoid a last-minute crush at the theater before showtime.

Several hiking trails lead to the play site. Information on trails is available at the Pantoll Ranger Station and a map of hiking routes will be posted on the bulletin board outside the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce office, Peacock said.

Board Denies Project Hookups

Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board last night denied hookups for a proposed 18-unit project off Merrydale Road.

The board unanimously rejected a bid by developer William Timmer for sewerage connections, saying the district does not have capacity to accommodate the project, according to managing engineer Edward Tibbetts.

The board said the project may be reconsidered in 90 days, Tibbets said.

The board next meets at 7:30 p.m. May 9 in the district plant on Smith Ranch Road.

Two Injured In Petaluma Auto Crash

Two Petalumans were seriously hurt yesterday when their car left the road and crashed through an arbor and into a tree in east Petaluma.

Paul C. Chappelle, 31, of 22 Bodega Avenue, the driver, was reported in stable condition today at Hillcrest Hospital, where he was under observation for chest injuries.

A passenger, Marion A. Nickerson, 37, of 1136 Gumwood Lane, was reported in satisfactory condition at Marin General Hospital, where she was treated for broken ribs and cuts and bruises on the chest and leg.

The California Highway Patrol said the accident happened at 8:45 a.m. on Corona Road about a quarter-mile east of McDowell Boulevard. The car apparently veered off the south edge of the pavement and came to rest in a yard at 498 Corona Road. The vehicle's front end was demolished.

Emergency Medical System Is Approved

The Marin County Board of Supervisors has approved creation of an emergency medical services communication system which would provide direct communication between hospitals and ambulances.

The board's unanimous vote included seeking a special radio frequency from the Federal Communications Commission. The county communications department will coordinate the system.

The system was recommended by the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Marin.

The communications system involves equipping ambulances and hospitals with equipment so a patient's condition can be monitored by a physician at a hospital.

The planning council said there were 2,520 emergency medical calls last year — mostly for heart attacks, strokes, injuries and respiratory problems.

"There is no doubt that a substantial number of lives can be saved by prompt and appropriate on-the-scene treatment," it said.

Ambulance crews also would be able to transmit electrocardiograms to a hospital for diagnosis.

A spokesman for United Ambulance said his firm supported the proposal and eventually would equip equip all its ambulances for communications with the hospitals.

County cost involves purchase of communications equipment, estimated at $8,000.

Supervisors, as part of the proposal, supported the idea of a 911 emergency telephone number, still in the planning stages.

Casket Sale Study Shows Big Profits

NEW YORK (UPI) — A study released today reports New York funeral home directors reap profits averaging more than 100 per cent on the sale of caskets to bereaved customers.

Assemblyman Andrew Stein, chairman of the Temporary State Commission on Living Costs and the Economy, said: "The funeral home business is an extraordinarily profitable industry which would readily withstand a more intensive competitive environment."

The commission's study said the average prices among the "least expensive" funerals offered in the state is approximatley $960.

According to the study, the average price for the least expensive caskets in funeral homes surveyed was $303, while the manufacturers' price was under $140.

Casket prices ranged from a $60 box which cost the funeral home $22, to one selling for $6,800 for which the home paid $3,100, the study said.

The study, Stein said, was based on data provided by the state Funeral Home Directors Association and represents the first analysis of price mark-ups in the funeral industry in New York.

Stein said the commmission will push next session for legislation to require funeral directors to display the manufacturer's suggested retail price on every casket offered for sale.

Sister Is Visiting With Golda Meir

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Prime Minister Golda Meir celebrated her 76th birthday today visiting with her sister who flew over from the United States.

Mrs. Meir planned to observe the occasion with a private dinner at the home of friends south of Tel Aviv with her son and daughter, their families and her sister, Mrs. Clara M. Stern of Bridgeport, Conn.

Dear Counsellor:

We have lived in Marin for 18 years and now have a substantial equity in our home. We would prefer to retain our home but release monies for other real estate investments. Is this possible?

George T. Ploss

ANSWER:
Dear Mr. Ploss:

Yes, it may be possible . . . depending on your qualifications for refinancing your home and the availability of monies from a financial Institution.

Assuming your present home has an appraised value of $70,000, it may be possible to obtain a new loan of 70% of appraisal or $49,000. If the existing mortgage on your present home is $30,000, it would release approx. $19,000 (less financing charges) for other Real Estate Investments . . . An excellent hedge against inflation. Your nearest Red Carpet, Realtor would be pleased to furnish you with additional information.

SAILOR'S SWELLING — Terraced planters once were tended by the caring hands of Joseph C. Suarez at his home at 639 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur. Inside the house, the man kept remnants of his seafaring days, but these have all disappeared with the dwelling's new owners.

$66,000 IN CASH

Seafarer's Fortune Still Unclaimed

By PAUL CANE

An old Spanish seafarer died. He had lived in a weatherbeaten old shack in Larkspur, with withered fish netting, rusted sea chests, bunk beds, and broken, rotten oars decorating its tiny rooms.

And when he died, he left a treasure.

Joseph Charo Suarez, of 639 Magnolia Avenue, died March 5, 1973, at the age of 72. His parents were long since dead. His brother and sister could not be found. He never married and had no children. He left no will.

So his fortune, a horde of $66,314.75, today sits unclaimed.

Suarez' fortune came to notice recently upon the Idependent-Journal's receipt of a state report listing estates without heirs.

The large sum of money involved — second largest in a list of 584 throughout California — caught the eye of an editor, and beckoned a reporter on a true "paper chase" around the county, scrounging through cryptic records from health offices, probate files, newspaper morgues and law firms.

What kind of man was Joseph Suarez? Had he no friends to which he could leave his money? (Under California law, money that is not willed and cannot be claimed by heirs goes to the state five years after death.)

Records indicate that the man died at Marin General Hospital of natural causes. A short, two-paragraph obituary appeared the following day in the I-J and noted that there were no apparent survivors, but nobody knew then that Suarez had left such a quantity of money.

Other curiosities are present in records. For example, Suarez apparently placed more than $10,000 in a safe at the hospital when he was admitted. Why? What possible use could a bedridden man have for such a load of cash? Records do not say.

After his death, the Sailor's Union of the Pacific made funeral arrangements, according to county health department records. Suarez was a longtime member of the union, apparently, but nobody reached at the union office remembered the man.

Neighbors, however, recall him well. Paul F. Burrows of 645 Magnolia Avenue said Suarez was a short, stocky individual (very old records measure him at five feet, four inches, weighing 160 pounds).

He remembers "old Joe" as a courteous, but not an extroverted gentleman. Suarez never drove a car — but he apparently had no need to do so, since he never went anywhere except down to the market for food.

Suarez' home was a small dwelling on the hill above Magnolia Avenue (it was auctioned for $13,550 after his death) and it was the house, Burrows said, that was the most memorable thing about the man.

Apparently Suarez had fixed the house to reflect his personal taste and experience. He slept in a bunk bed, just as he had done aboard ship years before. His few belongings were tucked in old sea chests, and walls were covered with fish netting and broken oars, Burrows recalled.

Once, he continued, Burrows' sister visited Suarez in his home, and the old man said that she was the first woman to set foot in the house for more than 10 years.

A favorite past time of the old man, Burrows said, was tending to the plants and flowers growing on the hillside near the house. Burrows said he thought this was interesting, because Suarez probably rarely saw gardens, trees, or other products of the land during his seafaring days.

After his death, Suarez' assets were totaled, and savings accounts worth $50,000 were found in his name in San Francisco banks. This sum, with the money in the hospital safe, added to the resale value of the house, television, and miscellaneous personal items, totaled well over $70,000.

Out of this sum, utility bills such as cable television, water, and electricity were paid, and lawyer David J. Costamagna of the firm Vallerino, Costamagna and Morehouse received a $7,200 fee for handling the case through probate.

That firm's records show that Suarez was born in La Coruna, a seaport in the northwest corner of Spain, on Oct. 20, 1900. It is not known when he left the country, but government documents show that he became a naturalized U.S. citizen in 1929. All his life he was a sailor, but when he retired is not known.

After all fees had been paid, the handsome sum of $66,314.75 remained, and a diligent search was undertaken to find heirs.

Costamagna hired a lawyer from La Coruna by mail, and the latter undertook a plodding investigation in Spain to try to find Suarez' brother, Marcelino, or a sister, Abelina, whom Suarez had last seen in 1932.

The Spanish lawyer was apparently not speedy and somewhat lacking in energy. Most of the letters Costamagna wrote to the man asked essentially, "What are you doing for all the money we're paying you?"

When the Spanish lawyer bothered to write back, it was usually to say, "Give me a few more thousand pesos for more advertisements in newspapers."

Finally, the Spanish lawyer concluded that the brother and sister, and any other possible relatives, had died.

That closed the case of Joseph Suarez. Nobody knows much about his past, and the question of how he hoarded nearly $80,000 remains unanswered. The money, it now appears, will in time enrich the coffers of the State of California.

And even the memory of Suarez will be allowed to rest in peace, the sketchy reports of his mysterious life lying scattered in various files, forgotten, gathering dust.

Salk Says Cure Of Cancer Will Be A Long Road

ATLANTA (UPI) — The man who pioneered a cure for polio said yesterday his accomplishment was "easy" compared to the work scientists are undertaking now in the study od cancer.

Dr. Jonas Salk, head of the Salk Institute for Biological Studies at San Diego predicted the quest for a cure for cancer will come in bits and pieces. It will be a lengthy, time-consuming process without any major discoveries, he said.

Cancer will be conquered, he said, but he gave no time frame for a possible breakthrough.

Even though he discovered his vaccine 20 years ago, polio remains a problem in some areas where the vaccine is not in use, he said.

But "the facts now indicate that polio is essentially under control."

A Courtesy Call

CARACAS (UPI) — Former New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller yesterday paid a courtesy call on Venezuelan President Carlos Andres Perez, who three days ago ordered nationalization of a chain of 44 supermarkets owned by the Rockefeller family.

Felson Calls For A Watchdog Agency On Government Action

Jack R. Felson of Forest Knolls, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, has urged a $6.5 million eight-point "public citizens program" to promote the ability of citizens to help set public policies.

Such a program "is needed to insure the best use of the taxpayer's money and the relevance of governmental programs to the needs of the majority of California's people," he said.

Citing "boondoggles like the ferry system, the California water project and the current county spending proposal on the fairgrounds," Felson said such actions "cannot be stopped by electing this or that candidate but by constant monitoring of all elected officials."

His program calls for a state ombudsman with local offices in each county, regular meetings between legislators and constituents, an internship program to train citizens in legislative work as consultants, researchers and contacts with citizens' organizations, training sessions for citizens to watchdog local and state government, grants to produce radio and television programs on government, public financing of political campaigns, a tougher anti-secret meeting law and school programs on how to participate in government.

Campaign events scheduled for Felson's campaign are: a Mexican dinner at 7 p.m. Sunday at Felson's Forest Farm Camp in Forest Knolls; a coffee at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Novato home of Donald Wilhelm, 21 Hayes Street; a dinner 7 p.m. next Friday at the Petaluma home of William Bettinelli, 10 Haven Drive, and coffees at 8 p.m. May 14 at the Kentfield home of Dr. Lawrence Scadden, 32 Quisisana Drive; 8 p.m. May 15 at the San Anselmo home of Dr. Martin Blinder, 50 Idalia Road, and 8 p.m. May 16 at the Penngrove home of Sol Fishman, 1265 Dutch Lane.

SILVESTRI — George J. Silvestri Jr. of Novato, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, will hold the following campaign events: coffees at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Novato home of Mrs. Larry L. Heon, 118 Wild Horse Valley Road, and 10 a.m. Thursday at the Petaluma home of Norman Angeli, 13 Birch Court; a wine and cheese party at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Petaluma home of Mrs. Michael J. Lind, 1295 Schuman Lane, and coffees at 10 a.m. next Friday at the Mill Valley home of Jean Barnard, 1 El Capitan Avenue, and 8 p.m. next Friday at the Greenbrae home of Martin L. Roth, 400 Via Hidalgo.

REEVES — Alan F. Reeves of San Francisco, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Fifth Congressional District, has accused a fellow candidate, Assemblyman John L. Burton of San Francisco, of making a suggestion that "would most likely precipitate a fullscale recession." The object of Reeve's attack was a statement reportedly made by Burton that the defense budget should be cut by 50 per cent.

Reeves proposed that the economy be bolstered instead by having a certain percentage of all individual and corporate tax revenues remain "directly in the county where it was earned." Sending the revenue first to Washington and then back to local government chews up too much of the money, Reeves said.

FILANTE — Dr. William J. Filante of Kentfield, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 3 seat, has charged his opponents with making "false and misleading statements" on the court decision voiding the district's moratorium on new connections. According to Filante, they have said the decision requires an increase in water supply, but in fact this is not true under the ruling. They also have claimed that unless the decision is appealed the district never again could invoke a moratorium, Filante said, adding this also was not true. His opponents are Joan Seminario and Margaret Neese.

A wine and coffee party for Filante will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the San Anselmo home of Samuel Alimi, 47 Santa Barbara Avenue.

KRUG — Campaign receptions for Edward M. Krug of San Rafael, candidate for Marin County district attorney, will be held: 5 p.m. today at the Mill Valley home of Donald R. Patterson, 394 Durant Way; 4:30 p.m. Sunday at the Mill Valley home of Dr. Stephen H. Libien, 340 Pine Hill Road; 7 p.m. Sunday at the Terra Linda home of Dr. Stephen A. Simon, 584 Thyme Place; 8 p.m. Monday at the San Rafael home of Dr. Richard S. Katzoff, 40 Sienna Way; 8 p.m. Tuesday at the San Rafael home of Dimitris Mitsios, 259 Johnstone Drive; 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Novato home of Grant Madill, 82 Shields Lane, and 3 p.m. May 11 at the Point Reyes Station home of Wilson Turner, Silver Hills Road.

CANDIDATES NIGHTS — The League of Women Voters has scheduled the following candidates nights: 8 p.m. May 13, Terra Linda High School cafeteria, candidates for Marin Municipal Water District Division 1; 7:30 p.m. May 16, Whistlestop Senior Center, San Rafael, candidates for Marin County clerk; 8 p.m. May 20, Lagunitas School, candidates for Marin Municipal Water District Division 1; 8 p.m. May 23, Olney Hall, College of Marin, candidates for Marin Municipal Water District Division 3; 8 p.m. May 29, Tamalpais High School, candidates for Marin Municipal Water District Division 4, and 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. May 30, Unitarian Fellowship, San Rafael, candidates for Marin county recorder, district attorney, coroner and superintendent of schools.

Stilts Blamed On Being Shaky

SALINAS (UPI) — A 46-year-old man was found innocent yesterday of being "shaky" last Halloween.

Bob Freshour, who was charged with drunken driving, told a jury he had trouble walking the straight line because he had been balancing on stilts for three hours.

He told the court his eyes were red and bleary because face makeup had gotten into them.

After noting that the charges against Freshour were on Halloween night, the jury declared him innocent.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Statewide Property Tax Plan Proposed To Finance Schools

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — In an effort to meet the landmark Serrano court decision, the chairman of the Senate Education Committee has introduced legislation imposing a statewide property tax to finance schools.

Through the gradual levying of the statewide tax over a 10-year period, the measure (SB2360) was designed to spread the tax burden more evenly and close the gap in educational opportunities. It was submitted yesterday by Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento.

In the Serrano case, a Los Angeles Superior Court ruled the current system of school financing relies too heavily on local property taxes, creating a large disparity between wealthy and poor districts. The ruling held that the large disparity violated the equal protection provision of the Constitution.

Rodda's complex proposal would establish minimum spending levels for each child in California, based on a statewide tax rate of $3.97 per $100 of assessed valuation.

MOVIE BOOST

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A special commission to give a "shot in the arm" to the motion picture industry would be created by legislation endorsed by a delegation of Hollywood personalities.

The author, Sen. Alan Robbins, D-North Hollywood, said it would create the California Motion Picture Development Commission.

Robbins said the agency would assist film companies secure locations and deal with governmental agencies. Its initial appropriation would be $100,000.

"In terms of promoting the motion picture payroll and the retention of picture making in California, this is a very reasonable appropriation," he said.

The bill now goes to the Senate Finance Committee. It is SB 1678.

CANAL BATTLE

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Environmentalists have lost a round in the barrow pit controversy involving a freeway and a canal.

The state Department of Transportation said yesterday a federal court ruled that its proposed construction of a 7.8-mile stretch of Interstate 5 just north of Stockton was not the beginning of the controversial peripheral canal.

The Friends of the Earth, Save The Delta Association and others had said dirt for highway construction was being taken from a place on the route of the proposed canal, which they are trying to block, in effect beginning the canal's construction.

REYNOLDS QUITS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Frank Reynolds, chief deputy director of the California Department of Consumer Affairs, has resigned to become director of legislative services for the Associated General Contractors of San Diego.

Reynolds, a former radio-TV newsman, said in a statement yesterday the resignation will be effective May 13.

OIL INITIATIVE

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Oil Initiative League, which is backing a measure to bring big oil firms under state regulation, says it has been endorsed by 30 legislators — and every one is a Democrat.

In a statement yesterday, the league said the firms would come under control of the state Public Utilities Commission.

The sponsor of the initiative, which has not yet qualified for the ballot, is Senate president pro tem James R. Mills, D-San Diego.

WATER SAVERS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Californians could save 10 gallons of water per day per person with low-flush toilets, says Assemblyman Barry Keene, D-Santa Rosa.

Kenne introduced legislation yesterday that would require all homes, apartments, motels and hotels built after Jan. 1, 1976, to have low-flush toilets.

He said the low-flush toilet requires about 3½ gallons a flush, compared to 4½ to 7 gallons for the commonly used long-line, trap toilet. But low-flush toilets now constitute only about 1 per cent of all toilet sales.

MOVER RATES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation allowing household movers to charge lower rates to welfare recipients was proposed yesterday by Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Los Angeles.

The bill would provide an exception to the Public Utilities Commission's minimum rate structure which all household goods movers in California must follow.

"These minimum rates are now so high that welfare recipients cannot utilize moving services," Sieroty said. "Yet, there are some household goods movers willing to provide service at a lower rate to persons on public aid."

SCHOOL BONDS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A proposed $150 million bond issue to help construct new schools and replace earthquake hazardous schools has moved a step closer to being placed on the November ballot.

The measure providing the bond issue was approved yesterday by the Assembly on a 56-0 vote. If approved by the Senate and Gov. Ronald Reagan, the proposed bond issue would go on the ballot.

The measure (AB3236) by Assemblyman Alister McAlister, D-San Jose, would provide $100 million in low-cost loans for construction of new schools in low-wealth districts and $50 million for replacement of earthquake unsafe schools.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Care Is Best Way To Prevent The Causes Of Food Poisoning

Food poisoning is common in summer because the causative bacteria thrive and multiply in warm temperatures. Proper cooking and refrigeration are excellent preventives but will not do the job unless hot food is kept hot (above 145 degrees Fahrenheit) and cold food is kept cold (45 degrees Fahrenheit or lower). Be especially careful when picnic foods are prepared early in the day, then reheated, and handled again before they are served. This, of course, is the old story behind the stomach upsets and diarrhea that have ruined picnics, church suppers, and putluck dinners.

FOODS SUCH as sun-warmed custards, cream pastries, chicken salad, and processed meats and fish are breeding grounds for bacteria. Staphylococci are common culprits and, when present in sufficient numbers, cause cramps, nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea. These symptoms usually start within two to four hours after the tainted food is eaten. As a rule, the episode is over within a few hours, possibly because the poisonous items are eliminated quickly — either through one end or the other.

Salmonella food poisoning is less common, but more distressful. These barnyard microbes are found in contaminated dishes made with milk, eggs, mayonnaise, poultry, and several processed foods. A recent epidemic involving 57 persons was traced to roast beef sandwiches that had been prepared in a kitchen where the sewage had backed up into a sink close to where the sandwiches had been prepared. Three of the cooks were carriers.

SALMONELLOSIS SYMPTOMS start from six hours to two days after the contaminated food has been ingested. Fever, headache, nausea, vomiting, cramps, and diarrhea can last from 24 to 48 hours. When the condition is severe, and associated with dehydration and shock, the person may die. Treatment includes antidiarrhea and antinausea products along with intravenous fluids.

Many raw foods contain salmonella organisms. Cooking kills the microbes, but before this is done, many of the salmonellae get into the sink and on the kitchen counters. Unless the work area is kept scrupulously clean, the organisms can taint other foods, especially those about to be eaten.

Dr. Van Dellen welcomes reader questions. While he cannot reply to them individually, he will answer those of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

LARYNGITIS

P. R. T. writes: Does laryngitis always start from a cold?

REPLY

Usually, but not always. It may stem from a variety of infections, including tuberculosis and syphilis, and from irritation due to straining the voice. Many persons use the terms laryngitis and hoarseness interchangeably, which means tumors and other growths can be added to the list of causes.

SALT WATER QUACKERY

P. V. writes: Is it true that drinking salt water from the ocean is fatal?

PRELY

Yes, provided it is used to the exclusion of other liquids. The ingredients themselves are not poisonous. Some of our modern "medicine men" are bottling salt water and touting it as a cure for almost everything.

STOMACHACHE

H. writes: Would you have any idea why my 7-year-old son gets a stomachache after every meal? Our doctor can find nothing wrong.

REPLY

If X-rays show no abnormality of the stomach or intestines, emotional factors may be responsible. Allow the boy to relax for 10 minutes after each meal and don't let him know you are worried.

Defense Department Award To Texan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Texas millionaire H. Ross Perot has received the Department of Defense award for Distinguished Public Service for his "personal crusade" on behalf of American prisoners of war in Indochina.

The citation to Perot praised the businessman's "use of the news media to publicize the issue." It noted his jetliner odyssey from capital to capital in 1969 attempting without success to deliver Christmas packages to prisoners held in Hanoi.

Trial Delay Won By Ehrlichman

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — John Ehrlichman lost an attempt Thursday to get perjury charges dismissed, or the proceedings moved to a remote area, but won an indefinite delay in his trial here.

The decision appeared to mean Ehrlichman will go on trial in Washington, D. C., in connection with the Ellsberg burglary before coming to trial here.

The delay was granted by Superior Court Judge Gordon Ringer, after conferring by telephone with A.S. District Court Judge Gerhard Gesell in Washington.

Ehrlichman and other former White House aides were originally charged here with burglary and conspiracy in connection with the breakin at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist by White House "plumbers" hunting for Ellsberg's psychiatric files.

Stripper Wins Streaking Case

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Stripper Liz Renay thinks she's established a legal precedent that streaking comes under the heading of truth in advertising for a woman in her profession. She may put the precedent to test in Boston.

Miss Renay, 47, yesterday was found innocent of a charge of indecent exposure for running nude down Hollywood Boulevard March 12. She testified that she did it to attract publicity for her burlesque review.

"This proves that streaking with good intent as a joke is not lewd or indecent," Miss Renay's attorney maintained. Miss Renay, frequently on the front pages 20 years ago as the girl friend of mobster Mickey Cohen, testified ttat the large crowd that saw her streak "applauded and shouted hurrah."

Reddy Kilowatt Is Given Boot

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — Reddy Kilowatt, the cartoon character whose body looks like lightning bolts and whose head is a light bulb, has been given notice of dismissal by Northeast Utilities Co.

Spokesman Charles Bragg said Reddy Kilowat, a symbol used in advertising, brochures, letter and school book programs since the 1930s, is too expensive.

Reddy Kilowatt, a cartoon copyright owned by a worldwide advertising agency in New York City, is used by electric companies throughout the United States, Japan and Germany. Bragg said Northeast, the parent firm for six western New England utilities, had to pay about $12,000 annually for the right to use the symbol.

Honey Bee Offered As Official Insect

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — The New Jersey Legislature has offered Gov. Brendan T. Byrne a bill making the honey bee the "official insect" of New Jersey.

Sen. Joseph P. Merlino said there are more than 45,000 honey bee colonies in New Jersey —more honey bees per square mile than in any other state except California.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Plenty Of Coverage Due For Transcripts

NEW YORK (AP) - Two more boradcast news specials are coming up this weekend on the controversial edited transcripts of President Nixon's taped conversations with key Watergate figures.

One of the shows, on NBC-TV late tomorrow night, will run 90 minutes, the longest by far of network news specials on the transcripts. CBS aired an hour news special Wednesday night, while ABC's version last night ran 30 minutes.

But the NBC undertaking is a small bite of air time compared with a marathon 32-hour session of the transcripts that the Washington-based National Public Radio system is offering.

NPR, which serves 164 public radio stations, says virtually all 1,308 pages of the transcript President Nixon submitted the House Judiciary Committee will be read aloud on the air.

Before concerned listeners start recommending throat specialists, it should be known that readers at six participating NPR stations will take turns at the oral history.

The 32 hours won't be consecutive, either. NPR says it's being served up in 16-hour chunks tomorrow and Sunday with periodic updates on what transcript portion is being read, as well as reports on new developments in the transcript controversy.

NPR says the "reader" stations are WUHY, Philadelphia; WOI-FM, Ames, Iowa; WUOM-FM, Ann Arbor, Mich.; KBI-FM, Columbia, Mo.; WGBH-FM, Boston; and WBFO-FM, Buffalo, N.Y.

NPR's read-a-thon commences at 8 a.m. EDT tomorrow and continues until midnight, with the same schedule for Sunday, NPR says.

An NPR spokeswoman says it isn't known yet how many of the system's 164 stations will carry the readings, so the only way listeners might find out is to call their area's public station or just flip those AM and FM dials like crazy tomorrow morning.

NBC-TV's transcript session, anchored by John Chancellor, is set to begin at 11:30 p.m. EDT tomorrow. The show features an unusual touch for a network news program.

NBC says six "professional readers" who aren't actors will be on hand the first 45 minutes or so to recite key excerpts of the transcript.

Each reader will be assigned the words spoken by the principals in the transcript - President Nixon, John Dean, H.R. Haldeman and so forth - but it won't be a dramatic reading.

NBC says they're ordered to avoid that sort of thing. It says they'll read in a "nonexpressive manner so as not to convey a particular meaning where the meaning is ambiguous."

A network correspondent will precede the reading of each portion by setting the scene and outlining circumstances. The remainder of the program mainly will consist of summaries, analyses and interviews with congressional leaders, NBC says.

Dynamic Leader In World Football

Gary Davidson, the man who is doing most to disrupt the status quo of the National Football League, is a man who fits the description handed him in most newspaper reports. He is dynamic, a man who appears to know exactly where he is going.

He was quite impressive last Tuesday night, both at a press conference prior to a dinner meeting of the American Sports Club of San Francisco and at the dinner itself where he was the guest speaker.

Davidson is the president of the new World Football League, that professional sporting infant which is raiding the NFL for talent on a wholesale basis. He was also the man in charge of forming the American Basketball Association and the World Hockey Association.

He is sauve but deliberate. his age is 39. He is calm, cool and collected. It's apparent why he was a successful lawyer before entering the sports field. He's not a sports nut, just a super organizer. He even admitted to the press he had never even seen a hockey game before getting involved with forming the WHA to compete with the old, established National Hockey League.

HE SAID that in the past few days he has been approached by persons wanting to start all kinds of professional ventures including rugby, water polo and baseball. "I would never get involved in baseball," he said. But that leaves the door open. Can you imagine what might come next? The World Rugby League. Maybe the World Water Polo Association. Could it be the World Lacrosse Association?

What's another half dozen or so pro sports? At the rate new leagues are coming there will be professional athletes scattered all over the universe. Every city will have some kind of professional sport. We'll have the San Anselmo Hubs in football and the Point Reyes Panthers in squash. If you're a mayor in a city with a population of more than 1,016 it's time to make your bid for a franchise and multi-use stadium.

It's hard to say where it will stop. There is no pessimism creeping into the plans of the WFL. It will probably be a booming success. Some of the teams will lose a little the first year or two, but the profits will catch up.

WHEN STEVE ARNOLD of Corte Madera started raising money to buy a franchise he came up with enough investors to reach $500,000, the cost of WFL charter ownership. The league hasn't even started and those franchises have probably tripled in price in a matter of months. Arnold now has control of the Houston Texans who will be playing their home games in the Astrodome.

THE WFL NOW has 12 teams and enough coaches and players to start things rolling for league games in July. The thing the league doesn't yet have is a football. Davidson assured the press that the WFL ball would be different. He denied there would be chartreuse paint on the ball but said there would be some bright color to it.

"We're testing different kinds of balls under the lights to see what color we like," Davidson said. "We'll come up with a unique ball." A unique man, I bet he will.

NBA Blazers Eye Playoffs

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The Portland Trail Blazers, last place finishers in the National Basketball Association's Pacific Division in all four of their seasons, looked forward today to making next year's playoffs following agreement to a five-year contract by Bill Walton.

Walton, the 6-11, red-headed UCLA superstar and three-time college player-of-the-year who also was sought avidly by the rival American Basketball Association, said yesterday he would sign with the NBA Blazers.

No terms were announced but estimates put the figure at $2.5 to $3 million.

Walter Kennedy, the NBA commissioner, said in New York he thought Walton would "turn that franchise around and maybe even bring them a championship."

Portland players and Coach Jack McCloskey were extremely pleased with the announcement.

"I feel awfully, awfully good," McCloskey said. "With the addition of Walton to the players that we have, it makes the Blazers a contender."

Harry Glickman, vice president of the Blazers, said, "It now puts us in the position where we can realistically start thinking about becoming a playoff team."

Geoff Petrie, the Blazers' top scorer, said, "I think it's fantastic. It's great for Portland, great for the team, great for the owners. It's just great for everyone concerned. I'm really happy that we got him."

Sidney Wicks, like Walton a one-time UCLA All-American who helped persuade Walton to join Portland, said, "He will enable me to do more things."

Wicks said that Walton asked him about the team and if Wicks planned to stay with Portland.

"He wanted to know if I was going to still be playing in Portland," Wicks said. "He wants to play with me, and I want to play with him."

Asked if Walton could "turn things around" for Portland like Kareem Abdul-Jabbar did for Milwaukee, Wicks said, "I hesitate to compare him with others. I hope that everyone lets him be himself. Let him be Bill Walton."

John Wooden, who coached both Wicks and Walton at UCLA, said, "With Walton now teaming up with Wicks and Petrie, two stars of the league already, Portland has to be reckoned with. Bill is truly one of the great big men ever to play the game."

Rick Roberson, who was the starting center for Portland last season, said, "I'm glad to see him come. I think he can help the team. Myself? I don't know where I will be. My contract is up. I'm looking for a big contract myself. I love the NBA but I'm going with the best deal I can get."

Lloyd Neal, also a Blazer center, said, "It's relief now for the fans. I'm sure we'll put more wins on the board."

A PORTRAIT OF INTENSITY

Redwood High School's Henry Jacobson yesterday displayed intense concentration while deftly returning shots against Drake's Gene Lachelt during the top singles match in Larkspur. Jacobson won, 7-5, 6-4. Redwood avenged its April 2 loss to Drake by whipping the Pirates, 6-1. See story, page 44. (Photos by Alfred M. Arn)

Option Clauses Are Honored: WFL Aide

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The director of operations for the World Football League testified today the new league had "honored the option clauses" of all players it signed.

"We have honored the option clauses, not only in the National Football League but in the Canadian Football League and we have not violated that in any way," said Henry B. Parker.

Parker also said the league members had spent large sums of money for both franchises and players.

"I've already spent sizeable sums and will continue to do so," said Parker. "The price of everything has gone up —for stadium rental, travel and player salaries."

Parker was the first witness to testify for the WFL in a federal court case filed by the Cincinnati Bengals.

Yesterday's testimony was highlighted by an emotional declaration by Bill Bergey, the Bengals' middle linebacker who triggered the suit by signing to play for the WFL's Virginia Ambassadors in 1976.

Bergey insisted his mind this season will be on the Bengals—not the $525,000 he already is guaranteed for jumping to the WFL in two years.

"Right now I'm not thinking of that $525,000," Bergey testified. "I'm thinking about that division championship (with the Bengals) and a chance of going to the Super Bowl."

Bergey tried to counter testimony from some of his coaches that his performance may fall short of his announced intentions to play hard.

"In the last couple of weeks I've had more pressure on me than any time during my whole life," he said. "Local sports writers have been extremely cruel to me. I can sincerely say now that I want to play with the Cincinnati Bengals more than I have in the last five years. I don't know if it's to prove something to Coach (Paul) Brown, or to myself or to show the fans.

"I don't think my signing (with the WFL) has caused any problems with the Bengals at all. The problem is being created right now by the Cincinnati Bengals in this courtroom."

Also testifying yesterday were officials of two WFL teams— Bill Byrne of the Chicago Fire and Bill Putnam of the Birmingham Americans. Bill Berthelsen, a lawyer for the NFL Players Association, also testified.

Byrne, director of player personnel for the Chicago Fire, testified that "approximately 300 players" have been signed by his club.

Bengals attorney John Lloyd attempted to show the WFL doesn't need to raid the NFL for players but Byrne said there weren't that many talented players among the 300, a number eventually to be trimmed to a squad of 42.

Lloyd accused Byrne of wanting to "start at the top" and figured that in Virgil Carter, Mark Kellar and Leo Hayden, the Fire already had a backfield better than some NFL expansion teams had when they began.

Putnam, the Birmingham owner who has signed Oakland's Ken Stabler for 1976 service, said it was necessary that WFL teams have access to NFL stars.

"When a player the stature of Stabler signs, it helps tremendously," said Putnam, pointing out it helped establish the "credibility" of the new league.

Decision Time Is Near For Giants' Skipper Fox

MONTREAL (UPI) — One thing that the rash of injuries to the San Francisco Giants' infield has done is simplify manager Charlie Fox's lineup problems.

But major decisions are nearing as the Giants open a 14-game road trip here tonight against the Expos.

Ed Goodson will come off the disabled list Tuesday after a leg injury and is expected to move into first base. That means Dave Kingman would have to return to third or go to the bench.

If he goes to third, it gives San Francisco a hole in its defense since Kingman's fielding leaves much to be desired. It also puts a bright young prospect on the bench in Steve Ontiveros.

After a three-game series with the Expos, the Giants move into New York. Here the Giants hope that Tito Fuentes will be able to return to action after missing almost all action since the second game of the year with a bad back.

But Fuentes, just a week and a half out of traction, is still hurting. The Giants just hope the pepper-pot second baseman can mend quickly.

The pitching matchups for the series here find Tom Bradley (2-3) against the Expos' sensational Steve Rogers (3-1) tonight.

ABOUT DERBY PROSPECTS

Agitate Trainer Confident

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Agitate, the California Derby winner, was flown east to win the Kentucky Derby and trainer Jim Jimenez said today he still was sure the colt would.

"If I didn't think I had the best horse, I'd of stayed in California," said the trainer who has seen several Kentucky Derbys but never started a horse in one before.

"I don't know if this horse has run his top race yet. He was an easy winner of the California Derby. Bill Shoemaker does not use up his horse more than he has to. The race hasn't drained him any and if we have any luck at all in the race, he's the one they'll have to beat," Jimenez confidently predicted.

Agitate, with five victories and a third in six races, has the best record among the 23 horses entered in tomorrow's 100th and richest running of the Kentucky Derby. The son of Advocator was the last of the starters to arrive at Churchill Downs.

Agitate is third choice in tomorrow's Kentucky Derby which not only will be the richest but the most contested as well. It will be worth $326,500 with $274,000, an American record, going to the winner. It is a record field.

3 Crowns Virtually Clinched

All three championships were virtually decided yesterday in Marin County Athletic League track and field competition.

In varsity, San Marin (6-0) cleared its last formidable hurdle with an 87½ to 48½ victory over Terra Linda (4-2) in a meet highlighted by a triple jump of 45-0½ by Mustang David Harder.

For the championship to be official, San Marin must survive Tamalpais' (6-1) protest of the Mustangs' 69-67 victory Tuesday, and must defeat Drake in a make-up meet not yet rescheduled.

In Class B, Redwood (7-0) swamped Drake (5-1) in a head-

Top Swimmers Visit Redwood

Records are expected to fall by the dozen tomorrow when some of the best high school swimmers in California invade Marin for the Division II meet, beginning at 9 a.m. at Redwood High.

"There is a good possibility that almost every varsity record will be broken," said meet director Chuck Metz. "In Class B, it's very much the same situation."

The varsity meet is expected to be a battle between Ygnacio Valley (Concord) and Campolindo (Moraga). Ygnacio Valley has won the North Coast Section — the highest title available — in both varsity and "B" in each of the past three years.

San Rafael High is expected to battle Ygnacio for the "B" title. "It should be a real dogfight," said Metz. Terra Linda also figures to place high in Class B.

Over 200 swimmers will compete, approximately 20 of whom are girls. No event has less than three heats, with 53 heats in Class B and 45 in varsity. No finals will be held, and all places will be determined by time.

Top six finishers in each event in varsity and "B" will qualify for next weekend's North Coast meet. In addition, the seventh through 12th finishers will have a chance. Their times will be compared with the seventh through 12th-place times from Division I, and the best six of that group will qualify.

San Rafael's Scott Hislop is seeded first in the 200- and 500-yard freestyles, and both Bulldog relay teams are topseeded in Class B. San Rafael won the Marin County Athletic League varsity championship, but its team was stocked with freshmen and sophomores who dropped down to "B" for postseason meets.

Also top-seeded in "B" is Terra Linda's Dan Stewart in the 100 breaststroke. Several other Marinites are seeded in the top six.

In varsity, the only Marinites seeded in the top six are Dick Atwood of Tamalpais in the 100 backstroke, and the 400 free relay teams from San Marin and San Rafael.

San Marin's star Art Morrill, who did not qualify individually because he did not compete in last weekend's MCAL meet, is eligible to swim on the relay. San Marin qualified as a team, and is allowed to change its individual personnel.

The outstanding varsity competitor figures to be Peter Rocca of Campolindo, who has done 53.0 in the 100 back and 1:44.5 in the 200 free.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Redwood Gains Tennis Revenge

Redwood High School avenged its only Marin County Athletic League tennis loss in six years by whipping Drake, 6-1, yesterday in Larkspur.

In final Camino Norte Conference dual meet standings, Marin tied with Santa Rosa for fourth place.

Multi-Year 49er Pact To Nunley

Combined AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO — Linebacker Frank Nunley yesterday signed a multi-year pact with the San Francisco 49ers, thus quashing any possibility he would jump to the new world football league.

Nunley was being sought by the WFL's Hawaiian team, which already has lured Ted Kwalick, Jim Sniadecki and John Isenbarger from the prospectors.

With Sniadecki leaving, it means the seven-year veteran Nunley is likely to regain his starting middle linebacking post.

Top Trackmen In Marin Meet

The top track and field performers from the Camino Norte Conference will converge on College of Marin tomorrow for the conference meet, which has been given added importance this year.

Field events will start at 11 a.m. and running events at noon.

The top six finishers in each event will qualify for next week's Northern California meet. In addition, the meet will determine the conference champion this year for the first time.

Previously, the champion was determined by the dual-meet season. This year's dual meet leader was Foothill College of Los Altos with a 7-0 record, followed by West Valley of Saratoga (6-1), Santa Rosa (5-2) and Marin (4-3).

Marin has a chance to win two of the events. Pete Sweeney is the conference leader in the three-mile run with a 14:48.6 clocking, and Alfred Kellough has run 14.8 in the 120-yard high hurdles, and is within hailing distance of Foothill's John Foster (14.5), the defending Nor Cal champion.

Marin's Dave Crowhurst has thrown 179-9 in the javelin, second in the conference. He must confront Foothill's Barry Ryan (190-0).

The field events will be especially strong this year.

The discus features Foothill's Jay Puskin (173-2) and West Valley's Jamie Groover (170-0). Puskin (48-10) is also a threat in the shot put against Santa Rosa's Bob Gummerson (48-11).

West Valley enters four 14-foot pole vaulters led by Roger Martin (15-0).

West Valley's John Triplett (49-6½) and Foothill's Steve Porter (49-0¾) will duel in the triple jump, and Foothill's Carleton Shaw (24-6½) is a leading long jumper. In the high jump, Rich Geske of Solano (Suisun City) is the Nor Cal leader with 6-9.

Missing from the track events will be Santa Rosa's Carl Sagon, who has done 21.3 in the 220-yard dash and 48.6 in the 440. He fractured his leg prior to Wednesday's trials.

Winds Keeping Fishermen Home

What windy weather! If you are wondering whether these winds were having their effects on the ocean, the answer is yes. Wednesday, even in the morning when I checked the area from Duxbury Reef to Muir Beach outside the Gate, white caps and big swells could be seen over the entire ocean area. No boats were seen out there, though it was reported the party boat Sunrise took 21 salmon.

The bay has been showing effects of the wind also, with few boats appearing at the striper hot-spots. We need a high pressure change in the weather conditions to calm things down.

I RECEIVED A copy of the annual party boat angler catch for 1973 this week. It showed a catch of 124,676 salmon for 1973 compared with 151,595 in 1972. Striped bass party boat catches showed 20,120 stripers landed in 1973 as compared with 31,690 in 1972. Sturgeon catches totaled 642 for 1973 as compared with 976 in 1972. The total annual party boat catch of all fish was 5,923,478 caught by 880,100 anglers. This is the largest catch ever recorded, and it topped the former record year of 1968 by 461,000 fish.

Rockfish contributed greatly to this figure by topping last year's record catch by more than 515,000 fish with a total of 3,570,000. Lingcod catches were 80,778, cabezon 7,551 and California halibut 9,622.

HERE IS WHAT'S going on around the state.

Melvin F. Hunt was found fishing in the ponds of the Fillmore Hatchery. Hatchery personnel summoned Warden Robert Perry who cited the errant angler.

Hunt at first pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. Later he changed his plea to guilty. He was fined $50, assessed a penalty of $15 for costs and another $15 for a public defender for a total of $80. When caught, he had not had time to actually catch any fish.

THE WORD IS BEING spread by fish and game poachers in the Delta area to beware of that man on horseback.

The "Lone Ranger" is warden Terry Hodges of Brentwood who approaches wrongdoers with pencil drawn — and a citation book. He used his horse for patrol of Delta islands to conserve gasoline, and it has been a very productive operation.

Two horse patrols recently resulted in 12 citations, several to violators who had previously avoided getting caught during vehicle patrols. Cited were illegal fishermen and closed-season waterfowl shooters.

CONCERNED AND angry residents of rural Mt. Akum in El Dorado County called the sheriff's office after they heard shooting and saw three men skinning two deer.

Responding quickly to the call at 2 a.m., two sheriff deputies went to the scene and found two deer carcasses hanging from a tree and a nearby parked pickup truck with two rifles in it. Searching the area, the deputies found three men hiding in the brush.

Warden William Childs of Placerville, having been called by the sheriff dispatcher, arrived while the men and evidence were at the scene. He cited the three who said they needed the meat at home.

The three were each fined $300 and placed on one year probation by the Diamond Springs justice court.

"Disgusting" was the word used by both sportsmen and Department of Fish and Game officials at the actions of unknown poachers who used household bleach to kill all trout in a section of Hangtown Creek in Placerville. Warden Robert Rufenacht and fisheries biologist James Richard found emptied bleach bottles upstream from the kill area. Some 300 rainbow trout were dead in the stream.

Staffed with five trained home planners, it will offer free decorating service.

Herbert C. Yeager of Santa Rosa is president of the store, and John W. (Jack) Parker Jr. of Mill Valley is vice president. European Style Sidewalk Cafe Permit Sought In San Anselmo

Two Marin couples with long experience in the food business want to open a European style sidewalk cafe in San Anselmo this summer, and their plans will go to the San Anselmo Planning Commission next week for consideration.

The restaurant, with hanging plants, soft music, liberal use of natural wood, antiques and stained glass, would be established at 634-A and B on San Anselmo Avenue, next to Ted Smith Realtor, in space formerly occupied by The Hodge Podge and I Love Leather stores.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Spirit Of Adventure Is Fading

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — High interest rates and a dispirited stock market are having multiple effects on American business, few of them totally desirable.

The spirit of entrepreneurship is, for the time being, stifled. Beginning and small companies cannot hope to raise money in the lifeless new-issues market, where five years ago speculators begged for a share of any new stock.

Who will buy the stock of an untested outfit when the likes of Chrysler, Ford and General Motors find it difficult to market their shares? Some large companies complain, in fact, of a capital shortage.

Small business also finds itself frustrated in the credit markets, where loans cost considerably more than the prime rate, which is now up to 10¾ per cent. Charges of 15 per cent are more common for small business.

Corporate mergers, which proliferate when the market is active, are at a very low ebb. A company with a price-earnings multiple of five isn't inclined to use its stock to buy another company.

If, as was fairly common a few years ago, its multiple was 35 — meaning investors were willing to pay 35 times earnings for a share — a company could obtain a real bargain by using those shares to buy a smaller concern.

But the average p-e ratio of all stocks in the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was 9.7 at the close of last week. A year ago the ratio was 13.7 times earnings, and just a few years ago around 18.

Moreover, those cash-rich companies that were so attractive to merger-minded conglomerates in 1968 are far less common today. Few well-run concerns are inclined to borrow money at high rates when they can use their own.

Cash flows are being pinched, just as they are in households, none more dramatically than at Consolidated Edison, the big New York utility that omitted a quarterly dividend for the first tiem in 89 years.

When something of that sort happens, it flies above the money market like a storm.

MONEY GROWS ON TREES — Sasha Weinmann, 96 Gregory Drive, Fairfax, shows her children Jamie, 18 months, and Chris, 6, the $25 money tree she won Tuesday in a promotional give-away by Barclay's Bank in San Anselmo. Mrs. Weinmann was one of the winners in the raffle held daily during the past two weeks. Grand opening of the bank concluded today.

Market On Decline At Closing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks declined in quiet trading on the New York Stock Exchange today, hit by profit taking and the prospects of continued rises in various interest rates.

Stock prices had been rising in recent sessions partly on the hope that the prime lending rate—that charged by banks to most creditworthy business borrowers—would reach its peak at 11 per cent. So far, about a dozen banks have lifted their primes to that level.

But hopes for an imminent downturn in various interest rates were dealt a blow late yesterday, when the Federal Reserve issued figures showing business loan demand continued to rise in April, keeping the upward pressure on interest rates.

Stocks on the American Exchange fell in light trading.

International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. was among the day's volume leaders, losing ground at one stage. The giant conglomerate said earnings totaled 84 cents a share in the first quarter, unchanged from the same period a year ago.

New Residence Project Is Told

Retirement Residence Inc. of San Francisco, which planned and developed the Tamalpais retirement home in Greenbrae, is involved in a joint project on a $9 million continuing-care facility in Santa Barbara County.

The project, called Casa Dorinda, will be located on a 48-acre wooded estate in Montecito. It will be developed jointly by Retirement Residence Inc. and by Stolte Inc., international contracting firm in Oakland.

The community centers around the William Bliss Estate, an 85-room mansion designed just after the turn of the century.

Less Food Money

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A smaller portion of personal income is going toward food and savings than six years ago, the National Consumer Finance Association reports.

Warning Issued On 'Zip Code' Service

Citizens who are contacted by "Zip Code Directory Distribution Service" should notify the Better Business Bureau, according to Don Schwartz, executive vice president of the BBB in San Francisco.

Schwartz said some San Francisco residents have found "special notices" left at their doors, offering for $1.50 a nationwide zip code directory "with over 50,000 listings."

The Better Business Bureau contacted two of the universities named in the notice but could not find either university involved.

"It was learned that the zip code directory was approximately six by eight inches and slim, a size unlikely to contain 50,000 listings or to give nationwide zip codes by street addresses," said Schwartz.

The Unintelligible Tapes Guessing Game

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At one point in the edited transcripts President Nixon expresses fear that it might appear he had "covered up a huge (unintelligible)."

Sentences like that in the transcripts of Nixon's White House conversations have started a widespread guessing game that is at once fun and frustrating.

The transcripts are liberally laced with such parenthetical material as (inaudible), (unintelligible), (expletive deleted), and (characterization deleted).

The deleted expletives often are obvious. But filling in the unintelligibles is a more difficult proposition.

The missing words already are creating a controversy. Can the House Judiciary Committee studying Nixon's impeachment make a reasoned decision with so many gaps in the transcripts?

Already, John Doar, the committee's impeachment counsel, has said his staff has sophisticated electronic gear he believes can decipher some if the inaudibles and unintelligibles. But Nixon's offer that the two top committee members listen to the original tapes was not extended to Doar.

Some of the participants in the White House conversations knew their discussions were being recorded, and may have intentionally fuzzed up key passages to keep their words from coming back to haunt them.

Nixon himself has said the recording equipment was inexpensive and unsophisticated. That may be another reason for the stumbling blocks.

And the White House has conceded that the often salty language used by Nixon and his aides during the taped conversations has been deleted — presumably because the expletives would be personally embarrassing to Nixon.

Here are some of examples from the transcripts of the missing words:

April 17, 1973 meeting between Nixon, H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and Ronald L. Ziegler:

Nixon: "I don't want Colson to come in here. I feel uneasy about that, his ties and everything. I realize that (John W.) Dean is the (unintelligible). Dean of course, let's look at what he has, his (unintelligible) go popping off about everything else that is done in the government, you know, the bugging."

And later, in the same conversation, talking about earlier discussions of $120,000 in hush money for the Watergate defendants:

Ehrlichman: "Dean has talked to everybody in this place."

Nixon: "I told him not to talk to him anymore. But you see—let's see, what the hell—what's he got with regard to the President? He came and talked to me, as you recall, about the need for $120,000 for clemencies

Ehrlichman: "You told me that the other day, I didn't know that before."

Nixon: "I said, 'what in the world, John ?' I mean I said 'John you can't (unintelligible) on this short notice. What's it cost (unintelligible)?' I sort of laughed and said, 'Well, I guess you could get that.'"

On April 16, 1973:

Nixon: "We can't. No, the announcement—what I had in mind would be (inaudible) announcement — still to the (inaudible) going to name several other people who were involved...(inaudible) because of the people named (inaudible) language used.

"(Inaudible) some people (inaudible) judgment (inaudible) matter for the President (inaudible) special, I'm going to call him special counsel (inaudible) this case (inaudible) possibility before he walks into that open court (inaudible) can't get to that today (inaudible) meeting with (inaudible)."

March 21 meeting with Nixon, Dean and Haldeman:

Dean: "Something is going to break and Nixon: "It will look like the President

Dean: "Is covering up

Nixon: "Has covered up a huge (unintelligible).

Dean: "That's correct."

Haldeman: "But you can't (inaudible).

Later in the same meeting:

Nixon: "Paroles — let the (unintelligible) worry about that. Parole, in appearance, etc., is something I think in Hunt's case, you could do Hunt, but you couldn't do the others. You understand."

Dean: "Well, so much depends on how Sirica sentences. He can sentence in a way that makes parole even impossible."

Nixon: "He can?"

Dean: "Sure, He can do all kinds of permanent sentences."

Nixon: "(Unintelligible)."

Dean: "Yeah, he can be a (characterization deleted) as far as the whole thing."

April 14, 1973 meeting between Nixon and Haldeman:

Nixon: "You've got to find out what the hell he (Dean) is going to say (unintelligible) which is frightening to me (unintelligible) rather than (unintelligible)."

Haldeman: "Right."

April 19, 1973 meeting with Nixon, and Haldeman and Ehrlichman's lawyers, John J. Wilson and Frank Strickler:

Wilson: "Ehrlichman says (unintelligible). I don't know and I'm not gettting any answer from him (unintelligible). 'Now I'm going to ask you, what have you (unintelligible) from the other. He said 'Nobody's giving us any cooperation,' And then Silbert said 'You know,' he said, 'this will (unintelligible) against the (unintelligible) problem. (Unintelligible). And he said, 'well, if you come up with one of them (unintelligible) proceeding (unintelligible) and then Glanzer came to his rescue and said 'What could be — what is morally wrong with this whole thing (unintelligible).' Then we got into —they volunteered this quite interesting problem. They volunteered that these leaks from the grand jury were irritating the hell out of them. And I said

Nixon: "Do you think (unintelligible) put it out (unintelligible)?"

And later, in the same conversation:

Nixon: "I think that is really what they are going to try to nail Haldeman and Ehrlichman on. Not on the—not the Watergate thing—they can't do that (unintelligible) had approved the budget that (unintelligible). They can never prove the whole thing. Never prove that's what (unintelligible) never prove that."

And later:

Nixon: "Oh, I know—they're (unintelligible) my (unintelligible) absolute (unintelligible).

Few Are Aware They Have High Blood Pressure

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Only a fourth of an estimated 2.5 million Californians afflicted with high blood pressure are aware they are suffering the disorder, state Health Director Williams Mayer says.

In announcing California's participation in National High Blood Pressure Month, Mayer yesterday also said the disease "is much more common among blacks than whites."

He urged Californians to have their blood pressure checked regularly because when the disease is uncontrolled "a person is twice as likely to suffer a heart attack, crippling stroke, or kidney failure."

Candidate Corrects Execution Idea

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Odell McBrayer, the Republican candidate for governor quoted as saying he favored televising executions as a way to deter crime, said yesterday that's not exactly what he meant.

"I favor televising executions only if it's not done offensively," he said.

Did Consultants Know Where To Hit?

Ah, how sweet it is to catch somebody else in the same kind of goof for which you've been chastised yourself!

That's how Marin County supervisors must have felt this week when they teed off on the price paid consultants Peat, Marwick and Mitchell for a study of county government commissioned by the grand jury.

P. M. & M.'s bill was for $18,000. And it had typing at $8 an hour and thinking at $65 an hour.

"I'M ABSOLUTELY freaked out by this," said Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini, referring to P. M. & M. was "those idiots that purport to be consultants." He called it "the greatest misuse of funds I've seen."

Charman Michael Wornum said he spent an hour telling two of the P. M. & M. men about county government "when they were supposed to be telling me." (Maybe Wornum never had his brains picked before?)

It was great fun for the supervisors. You see, they spent $80,000 of our money for a report on the economic impact of the county general plan, then adopted the plan without waiting for the report. They have committed $72,290 this fiscal year to the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation for advice and plans on how to spend more money on the county fairgrounds.

It was therefore a rare opportunity to pick at consultant costs that had been commissioned by somebody else. And they didn't pass up the opportunity.

The supervisors, as you may recall, didn't want the grand jury to hire anybody to look into county government organization. They wanted the grand jurors to do it all themselves, on their own time. (Grand jurors are paid $10 per meeting; they don't draw $16,800 per year for their part-time jobs, as the supervisors do.)

In fact, the supervisors refused to appropriate $20,000 for the study until Presiding Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court ordered them to do so, reminding them that the grand jury is responsible to the court, not to the board of supervisors.

ONE SUPERVISOR injected a cautionary note into the glee and pretended outrage about P. M. & M.'s bill. Arnold M. Baptiste suggested that before saying too much, it might be a good idea to wait for the report to see what the grand jury got for the money.

It would, indeed. For instance, it would provide an opportunity to compare the value (not necessarily represented by man-hours) of P. M. & M.'s $18,000 county government study and Baxter, McDonald and Smart's $80,000 study of the county plan's economic impact.

There is an old story about a mechanic who examined a malfunctioning engine, picked up a hammer and tapped it. The engine started running perfectly. But when the mechanic asked $20 for fixing it, the outranged customer demanded an itemized bill.

The mechanic submitted this bill: "Hitting engine, $1; knowing where to hit, $19."

We don't know yet whether Peat, Marwick and Mitchell knew where to hit.

Only Doctor In House Hits Moscone Pot Bill

By RUS WALTON

Assemblyman Bob McLennan, R-Paramount, is a physician. In fact, he is the only doctor in the house. There are scads of lawyers, but only one physician.

And, because he is up-to-date on the emerging dangers of marijuana use, Dr. McLennan is taking out after Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco.

Moscone keeps going to pot.

He was one of 13 legislators who last year introduced a bill to decriminalize marijuana — the cultivation, transportation, sale and possession of.

NOW, MOSCONE is the author of a bill that would reduce the penalty for possession of less than three ounces of marijuana from a felony to an infraction. The difference between a felony and an infraction is the difference between getting nailed for a crime or getting a traffic ticket for speeding.

McLennan says enactment of Moscone's marijuana bill would tend to promote the use of marijuana among the youth — sort of a Good Babylon Seal of Approval.

"The scientific community is beginning to discover that marijuana is far more dangerous a drug than recently thought, "says the Assemblys' only doctor.

"Passage of legislation such as Senator Moscone's would reinforce the false belief held by too many of our young people that there are no medical dangers involved with the use of marijuana.

"There is strong (and mounting) evidence to the contrary. Recent studies at the University of Utah have demonstrated that even occasional use of marijuana results in a high incidence of chromosome breakage. That is the same type of process associated with the start of cancer.

"Other studies conducted at Columbia University, in New York, recently found that marijuana interfered with the formation of antibodies — the body's defense against disease and infection."

In addition to his blast for medical reasons, McLennan took a pot shot at Moscone for being irresponsive to the will of the electorate:

"In 1972, the people voted nearly two to one against the decriminalization of marijuana. The legislature should sustain that vote of the people and not attempt to overturn it."

Another splinter from the seat of government:

You know that negative income tax jazz those pelicans back in Ceasar's Palace, Washington, are talking about? The deal where individuals above a certain income level pay out taxes and folks below that income level rake it in? Well, the birds here in Babylon have beaten Washington to the punch: they have devised a negative income tax of their own design.

At least that's what the California Taxpayers Association contends. It says some folks can get a refund from the state even though they never paid any income tax.

Here's how it came about: Back in 1972, when the politicans were putting together SB 90 (the Moretti-Reagan tax "shift"), one of the major provisions was an increase in the homeowners' property tax exemption. That little gissmo was calculated to pacify a whole passle of voters.

Then someone remembered that about one-half of the voters in California don't own their homes, they rent them. And, there wasn't much in SB 90 for them. Quick-like the politicians slid in an income tax credit for those voters (I mean, renters). That credit ranges from $25 (for gross incomes up to $5,000) to $45 (for gross incomes of $8,000 and more.).

HERE'S HOW THE DEAL works for some: Suppose a student, who rents a small apartment, earns about $800 in a summerjob. About 40 cents is deducted from his paycheck for state witholding.

Joe College can file a claim for the return of his 40 cents and he can also claim that $25 income tax credit, as a renter.

Thus, he gets a check from the state for $25.40 . . . even though he paid a tax of only 40 cents.

And where did the $25 come from? From you, of course. It comes under the heading of "redistribution of the wealth". Or, is it "buying Paul's vote with Pete's money"?

"Cash? Where to we go to apply for that?"

The Acquittal Of Mitchell And Stans As Viewed By Two I-J Column Writers

Jury's Verdict Shows Guilt Not Presupposed

WASHINGTON — The "not guilty" verdict in the Stans-Mitchell trial is being dismissed by the extremists, who want to get Richard Nixon impeached whatever the evidence, as having only passing psychological value to the president.

It is more than that. True, the case was not central to the main Watergate offenses. True, a jury finding the two former cabinet officials innocent does not mean that another jury — the Senate — will find the president innocent. They are separate cases.

But the Stans-Mitchell verdict is a salient and significant boon to the White House side for these reasons:

1—FORMER WHITE HOUSE counsel John Dean was the only witness before the Senate Watergate committee accusing Mr. Nixon of knowledge of the coverup. In the Stans-Mitchell trial, none of the jurors believed him.

2—On a recent TV program, special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski said that he had no evidence to doubt the credibility of John Dean. Now he has such evidence — since the Stans-Mitchell jurors found Dean's testimony lacking credibility.

3—Dean was a principal witness in the New York trial. Chief prosecutor John R. Wing said that "what this case involves is telling the truth." The jurors unanimously concluded that Stans and Mitchell were telling the truth and that Dean was not telling the truth when he testified that Mitchell told him to get the SEC to lay off Robert Vesco.

Miss Sybil Kucharski, the jury forewoman, explained that the jurors had to consider that the main witnesses against the accused had admitted previous perjury. "As for Dean," she said, "he admitted guilt possibly looking for favors." Another juror, Clarence Brown, a postal employee, said the jurors simply did not believe Dean, that it was impossible to believe a man "who had perjured himself so many times."

4—THE VERDICT of "not guilty" on Stans and Mitchell cannot fail to sharpen public awareness that an indictment is not a conviction. It should be accepted with great reservations and this applies to any indictment which the Judiciary Committee may present to the House.

It was a balanced jury, several of them in lower-income brackets, and it was certainly not tilted by bias or background in behalf of Mitchell or Stans. Its forewoman was a 21-year-old bank teller who voted for Sen. George McGovern for president. It included two blacks — one a highway engineer and another a subway conductor — a mail carrier, a telephone installer, an insurance clerk, a yardman for a food company, an elderly housewife and an apartment superintendent. After watching them perform as jurors, U.S. District Court Judge Lee P. Gagliardi gave this appraisal of their quality:

"You are 12 of the finest citizens it has been my privilege to associate with . . . Jury duty is the highest function in civil service any citizen can perform and you have exemplified the highest standards of that service."

All of this gives new assurance that nobody is going to be railroaded or lightly exonerated. The judiciary is working well.

Nixon-Congress Battle Puts Media To Test

WASHINGTON — The jury's verdict in the John Mitchell-Maurice Stans case in New York inspired Mr. Nixon to fight rather than accommodate Congress — even while insisting he is doing the latter. In that atmosphere, it is clearer than ever that the formal congressional proceedings against the president must be more than merely judicious. They must be seen and understood that way by the American people.

When the Judiciary Committee and then presumably the House itself and then possibly the Senate act, the grounds for later assertions that he was politically framed or otherwise unfairly treated must be nonexistent.

That means the public must be effectively in on the proceedings, start to finish. But it also demands that those proceedings must not thus be turned into a Rowan and Martin show by television, or into a nonstop re-election rally by every incumbent who breathes near a microphone. To do the job right is going to take untypical restraint by the Congress and the media.

CONGRESS MUST DECIDE which media will be allowed to cover proceedings directly at three stages: within committee, on the House floor, and possibly when the Senate sits as impeachment jury.

There should be no serious question about quiet coverage of every step, once the hearings go formal, by the "pencil press." This means not only reporters working for newspapers and magazines but those wielding pencils and pads on behalf of the broadcast networks, too. This is the least disruptive form of coverage, the least tempting to politicians speaking to the home folks rather than the issue at hand.

To close the doors even to pencil-press coverage should not be tolerated by the public at this stage of events. The voters cannot be forced to keep up with these historic proceedings via self-serving leaks from both sides.

But this much, of course, fails to satisfy the networks, whose operating thesis is that an event does not become an "actuality" until it is immortalized by cameras and microphones. Partly as a result of the Nixon-Agnew crusade against the media in these past five years, a fair percentage of the public also has become suspicious of whatever it hears reported through someone else's senses. These attitudes merge in support of broadcast coverage of the proceedings.

WHAT IS LEFT in question, then, is just when the electronic equipment will be allowed to intrude and, most importantly, just how its coverage will work. In making decisions on this, the Congress should give maximum weight to what will serve the public best, and no weight at all to what will facilitate the broadcasters' competition with each other for audience ratings.

That means, I believe, that television should be limited to sober, gavel-to-gavel coverage by a single pair of "pool" cameras working for all the networks. The broadcasters would be free to put it on the air live all day, or to cut in for selected live high points, or to rerun all or parts of it on tape later in the day, as the public-TV statinns did with the Ervin committee hearings.

They would not be free to have a gang of cameras flitting about the chamber transmitting behind-the-hand chats between members or the frock worn by today's witness' wife or other diversions while ignoring the main business. No one else could restrict their interviewing and commenting outside the chamber, but they themselves could and should try to give the public the most complete possible view of what is happening, rather than trying to outdo each other with sideshows.

AS HAS BEEN SAID already, the media will be on trial, too. Their standing before the public will be measured by how successfully they serve the public, rather than themselves, in these weeks of ultimate public interest.

The same goes for the congressmen involved. It is a time for unprecedented self-control.

Supervisors Break Promise In Purchase Of Open Space

There seems to be a mental mirage, that the kings can do no wrong, permeating the throne room out at Brasilia which grows in breadth week by week — even to breaking faith with the taxpaying voters.

You will remember that when the open space proposition was voted on, the promise was made that the $750,000 which was in the current budget for open space would not be used to purchase open space land, if only the folks would just vote the open space district, except for that interval of time until the district could levy a tax for that purpose. Any balance would be returned to the county's general fund.

Here is how they are keeping that promise:

Items 8 and 9 on last Tuesday's agenda — "Convene as Marin County Open Space District. (a). Purchase and option agreements — Big Rock Ridge area, using general fund open space funds. . . . Reconvene as board of supervisors. . . . (9) Approval fund expenditures for 8 above."

NOW, HERE IS AN EXCERPT from the I-J story in Wednesday issue:

"A 185-acre parcel was added to the county's open space acquisitions yesterday as Marin County supervisors voted unanimously to pay $260,000 for the picturesque ridge above Ignacio. . . . Supervisors sitting as the county open space district board agreed to a one-year option on 96 acres located near the Indian Valley Colleges campus. . . . Purchase price on the second site is $130,000, according to Pierre W. Joske, district general manager."

WHEN JOSKE was hired I received a telephone call from a man in the Second District, who identified himself and then told me that folks had better keep their eye on Joske — that he had lived in Los Angeles where Joske worked with the parks department and that he had no regard for the taxpayers at all except as a source of money to spend.

Shortly after that I wrote in the column that the marshland which was being urged by the parks and recreation department to be acquired, to fill and be used as tennis courts and other similar activities, was not a good deal because of the subsidence which would occur later. Joske wrote me a letter. I telephoned him and we had a chat. He didn't pursue the project.

It has been interesting to watch him since then.

Moving out to the Brasilia site is proving to be much too far away.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Distortion Of Candidate Smith's Position Charged

As co-chairmen of Polly Smith's campaign for Marin Municipal Water District Board from Division 5 (Southern Marin), we would like to take strong exception to the careless and incorrect labelling employed in your April 26 editorial. Attempting to justify your endorsement of pro-development candidates, the editorial characterizes Mrs. Smith's position as being "for population control by withholding water."

Assumably, the editorial writer either did not read or decided to distort the position paper which has been circulated in Division 5 by Mrs. Smith. That position paper clearly states: "The water district by law cannot usurp the planning functions of local government; it cannot be used as a substitute tool to stop growth."

Perhaps your misapplication of labels results from your persistent attitude against city and county growth planning and conservationist policies, for which Polly Smith has fought hard in the past. Perhaps it stems from Mrs. Smith's position favoring appeal from the Superior Court's decision against the water moratorium on the basis of the court's own finding that a threatened water shortage exists. (We note all the candidates endorsed by you are against the moratorium.) Perhaps your stance is explained by Mrs. Smith's contention in her position paper that the water district must be "responsive to and accountable to the population limits prescribed in newly adopted city, community and county wide plans, and "must coordinate more fully with local elective and planning officials." She believes that local government planners cannot ignore issues involved with supply of water or other services. But it is weak journalism to reach for misleading catchwords in any election. Sloganeering is never an answer; as Mrs. Smith herself states: "There are no simple solutions."

(Candidate Polly Smith's position paper makes the statement referred to in the letter. It also calls for construction of the North Marin Intertie. It also says: "The district must cooperate more fully with local elective and planning officials in order to achieve the low density, controlled growth limits in newly adopted community, city and county-wide plans. The district should support legislative strengthening of the Municipal Water Code to achieve this end." — Editor)

Tape Transcripts Make Possible Trial By 'Jury Of 200 Million'

(Reprinted from Wall Street Journal)

Release by the president of the Watergate transcript is a significant milestone in the evolution of the democratic process. A vast nation now has it within its power to make a crucial decision — whether to impeach its president — not on the basis of second-hand knowledge but with access to the most intimate conversations and thoughts of the president and his closest advisers.

We don't know what this decision will be or how, precisely, it will be made. Certainly not 200 million people — probably not even 200,000 — will read the full transcript. But we have confidence that somehow the mysterious forces of public opinion will arrive at a just decision and that it will be based in large part on all the separate interpretations of those rambling presidential conversations recorded in the transcript. Whatever other mistakes he has made, the president did a necessary and proper thing in taking his case to the people . . .

WHATEVER THE FLAWS in the transcript, the president has laid his cards on the table, albeit reluctantly, to an extent unprecedented among leaders of great nations. The 1,308 pages and 200,000 words, complete with damaging personal remarks about people like Patrick Gray and Hugh Sloan, approach the ultimate in disclosure.

We cannot yet perceive all the effects of this. Certainly, some are painful to others besides the president and there may be some damage as well to public concepts of government. The disclosure does not prove the president's critics have been wrong, since there is plenty of room for interpretations to differ, for example, over what was really meant when the president said, "it is wrong — that's for sure."

Some readers will apply an absolute standard, that the presidency must be above reproach and that the vengeance of the people should be inflicted upon any president who has wavered in upholding the law. Some, on the other hand, will be impressed with the president's complex and painful problem of smoking out guilt among his closest advisers at the same time as he was trying to conduct the other affairs of the nation. Some will be moved by his loyalty to longtime associates implicated in the affair. Yet still others will be scornful of his weakness as an executive in not flaying about him in righteous wrath. Some will think the whole mess grew from another form of weakness, in selecting men and providing them moral leadership . . .

BUT WHATEVER opinions do jell, there is far less need than before to base them on speculation. The force on public opinion has pushed the White House into an unprecedented disclosure, and its force will also ultimately decide the meaning of what was disclosed.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

"Every editorial writer has been expressing his views on our new attorney general. Now I like to sorter deliberate before passing judgment. All our newspapers can say what they want; it don't matter whether they are right or wrong, as long as they can keep the advertising columns filled and their crossword puzzles up to date and their photographers bring in enough pictures. But I have to get by on sheer merit.

"Well, he stands 6 feet 6 inches going into the cabinet. No one knows what his height will be coming out. That attorney general's office has lowered the stature of so many of its occupants that some of them have come out of there hid under a rubber heel." — March 29, 1925.

Fire In Old School Building May End Children's Center

Every morning, reporters make telephone checks of fire departments. Stinson Beach Volunteer Fire Chief George White often replies in his early morning gruffness: "No. No fires. We don't allow fires out here in Stinson Beach."

Last Sunday, however, fire intruded on the usual serenity of the seaside town, burning down the Lagoon Recreation Center on the northern outskirts.

It was unmerciful in its destruction, leaving nothing of the building and its contents except a heap of smoking sticks.

The 50-year-old building, once Stinson Beach School, was still owned by the school district, which donated it rent-free to the Stinson-Bolinas Children's Center.

THE CENTER, with funding from the Office of Economic Opportunity, had been struggling to get it together and was just becoming established in the old school. Several hundred dollars worth of new equipment for its 50 children was lost, said a discouraged Terry DeMartini, center director.

Geared for low-income families, the center offered preschool classes in the morning and day care in the afternoon.It has set up temporary quarters in the Bolinas Public Utility District building, and is making a valiant effort to carry on with a reduced program.

Money runs out at the end of June, but the center, through Community Action Marin, is asking county supervisors for unspent social welfare funds to keep in operation through the summer.

In the meantime, the center needs a home and equipment to replace some of what it lost. If it must close, there will be no child care or preschool in the Bolinas-Stinson area. Persons who would like to help may notify Terry DeMartini or other organizers at the public utility district office on Elm Road.

IT WAS AN AMAZING week. Casting about on my TV dial late one night, trying to find something to watch while drifting off to sleep, I flipped to the Merv Griffin show and there was Sausalito City Councilman Sally Stanford.

Week after week I watch Sally in action at council meetings but I never expected to see her on TV, rapping with Merv, Virginia Graham, and some Hollywood chick with a Jane Fonda haircut and Gloria Steinem wire glasses.

They talked about Sally's former occupation, madam, and her entry into politics, which prompted the chick to remark on how much the two fields have in common. Sally was stern.

She loosened up with her stories about Sausalito political goings-on and got a big laugh with the one about the then-other woman on the council, Robin Sweeny. "Robin said she wouldn't serve with me if I was elected," said Sally. "Then four years later it took my vote to make her mayor."

It occurred to me that this Sausalito gossip was going into living rooms coast to coast, that Merv and the others actually were interested in it. While Merv was expounding on the beauty and charm of Sausalito, and Sally was complaining about not being able to build anything there, I fell asleep.

Children's Answers Show There's Hope In World

By ROB TREICHLER

Watergate. SLA. Plane crashes. Murders without motive. Wait! There is still hope in the world. I want to share some with you.

The San Jose Mercury inquiring reporter asked nine and 10-year-olds, "What makes life worth living?"

If you've any doubt about our ability to survive in a world most assuredly gone mad, their answers could put a smile on even a cynic's face.

"HAVING A MOTHER and father and having everyone get along. Not having divorced paretns and none who drink. Also playing waltzes on the violin." — Susan Nesbet, 9. We mature adults often don't count our blessings. Contentment's wanting what you've got; not getting what you want. It's playing waltzes on a violin.

"Playing baseball. Pretty flowers. People who aren't mean." So states Sheri Rose, 9. Sure, there are mean people. Even a nine-year-old knows that. But some of us forget that there still are nice people. Sometimes we have to be reminded.

Tired of parking lots, high rises and "civilization"? Ten-year-old Dan Hingle likes "Birds and the sounds of nature." If you stop what you're doing long enough, you too can hear the sound of nature. But you've got to stop for a while. Dan likes "nice people, too. Not like the SLA. People who don't drive cars." Dan, I'm really sorry about that last part there, but I promise to use the bike for short trips to the store, OK?

"Sports. School. My parents. My friends. Helping people." Tony Ventimiglia at 10 can sum up life's purpose in eight words.

Not money and the big job, cars, color TV and a swimming pool. Helping people! How many more are there like Tony? Do they really have to change that much before they get to 30?

TEN-YEAR-OLD Laura DeWees knows the value of friends. "There are a lot of people around that make you feel real bad — friends are for making you feel real good." Like Sheri, Laura is old enough to realize that not all people are as nice as they can be, but it's really the nice ones that count and make life worthwhile.

She likes "drawing scenes of life." You used to thrill to drawing a really good picture, seeing how real you could make it look. It was the same kind of satisfaction that swelled you with pride when you colored real well and stayed inside the lines in kindergarten, only more so, because you drew the whole picutre. Whatever happened to that feeling of creation? Remember the squish of finger paint, or pounding the cool clay out flat on the kitchen table? When did you last feel the pure joy of creating — not for use, or sale, just to create?

"Football, baseball and other sports. Both watching them and doing them. Just being able to live." That's Scott Powers, 10. How long since you've "done " a sport. Shut off the TV. Is watching a game tomorrow afternoon more important than throwing a few to the kid, or getting around to putting up that basketball backstop and checking in a few to show the kids how it used to be done?

DID YOU SEE the person you used to be in any of the kids above? What happened? That paperwork can really wait until Monday. The floor doesn't really need another coat of wax.

Have a great weekend. The ingredients are all listed above. Pick the ones that appeal to you. Season and mix with lots of love to personal taste. Enjoy.

Wedding That Resulted From 'Exorcist' A Devilish Affair

CHICAGO (UPI) — Doris Davey exchanged marriage vows with theater manager Larry Watts yesterday and said, "The Exorcist" will always hold a special place in my heart."

It was a rather devilish affair.

Watts, 41, manager of the State-Lake Theater, and Miss Davey, also 41, said they met when she fainted in his arms during a showing of "The Exorcist."

The ceremony was conducted by Traffic Court Judge Richard L. Le Fevour, whose son played a bit part in the movie about a girl possessed of a devil.

The best man was William Friedkin, director of the movie, who Watts described as a longtime friend.

The wedding cake was decorated with a miniature deep purple trident, a symbol of Satan, strategically placed between confectionary figures of the bride and bridegroom.

The former Miss Davey recalled wistfully that she met Watts two months ago as she walked, wobbling and trembling, from a showing of "The Exorcist" and he, deciding she was going to pass out, went to her rescue.

"I couldn't possibly forget this wedding," she said.

Watts said there was "no way" he'd divulge where the couple would be going on their honeymoon — presumably lest the devil find out.

Miner Statue

KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI) — A 12-foot statue was dedicated yesterday to the 91 miners who died in the Sunshine silver mine fire May 2, 1972.

Not The Master, But The Subject

MIAMI (UPI) — Movie actor Kirk Douglas, who plays a master thief in his latest movie, has learned how it feels to be a victim.

Before leaving his room at the posh, heavily guarded Palm Bay Club Wednesday night for a date with friends, Douglas put his money clip containing $500 in the drawer of his bedside table. When he returned money and money clip were gone.

Douglas, in town to promote his movie, "The Master Touch," said, "I don't really care about the money but the clip was a gift from my wife and has a lot of sentimental value."

Bids For Sewer Plant Way High

Directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District felt the inflation pinch Wednesday night when the lowest bid to build the community's planned sewage treatment plant was almost twice what district engineers had predicted.

The lowest of two bids was by C. R. Fredericks Co. of Novato for $1,015,000, according to Director Judith Weston.

The district's consulting engineers, Kirker Chapman Co. of San Francisco, had estimated the cost at about $600,000.

No action on the bid was taken. Directors have 60 days to either accept or reject it. During that time they will work with engineers on cutting back on the project and reducing costs. They also will meet with state and federal officials to discuss possible increases in funding.

Federal grants will cover 87.5 per cent of the costs, with the balance paid by the community. Last November, voters approved $385,000 in bonds for the project.

In other business, directors said the Stinson-Bolinas Children's Center could use district building on Elm Road until the end of June. The center, providing pre-school and day care for children of low-income families, had been housed in the Lagoon Recreation Center in Stinson Beach. The recreation building was razed by fire Sunday.

Stolen Art Is Hottest Case Around

LONDON (AP) — What do you do with 19 masterpieces worth about $20.4 million, that you stole in the world's greatest art robbery?

One thing's for sure — you can't sell them for anything like their market value. At least not openly.

Right now, those 19 paintings are possibly the hottest chunk of stolen property in the world. Art dealers and police around the globe have been alerted to watch out for them.

It poses a problem for police in Ireland investigating the raid last weekend by an armed gang on the collection of gold and diamond millionaire Sir Alfred Beit.

So far, the gang that pillaged Beit's mansion near Dublin April 26 has made no ransom demands of any kind.

But some art experts and some police officers believe the robbery was politically motivated. Beit himself thinks the gang was out to make a killing by ransoming off the paintings for hard cash. And he's also said firmly he won't pay a cent if that is correct.

Stealing art treasures has been a lucrative business for centuries. But in these days of terrorism and revolutionary politics it has assumed amore sinister aspect.

Hugh Leggatt, a respected London art dealer and international art historian, said: "There are new motives behind these art thefts. In the old days, thefts were often insurance frauds. Now there are sociopolitical reasons and some form of blackmail is likely."

There has been speculation the gang that raided Beit's County Wicklow mansion at Blessington, near Dublin, may be linked with the Irish Republican Army, an underground guerrilla movement fighting to unite the British-ruled province of Northern Ireland with the Irish Republic to the south.

The gang of five, led by a French-speaking brunette, screamed revolutionary slogans, such as "capitalist pigs" at Beit, and accused him of exploiting the working class.

This, the experts believe, indicated the raiders were probably motivated by something more than just personal gain.

In the last three or four years, according to police estimates, art treasures worth $3 billion have been stolen.

Most law enforcement agencies agree the thieves these days are far more organized internationally and more knowledgeable about art than ever before.

And they are convinced that a lot of major works that vanish after they are stolen are sold to wealthy collectors who in the words of one dealer "lust" after paintings their riches can never buy legitimately.

However, some detectives suspect, no thief would be able to dispose of 19 famous masterpieces, even to shady collectors. This reasoning tends to back up the theory the Irish robbery was politically motivated.

Many Watergate Figures Got Their Political Start At USC

SACRAMENTO (AP) — At the University of Southern California, their political zeal went into Trojans for Representative Government. A decade later, it became Nixon for President.

Today, their names are familiar ones in the news: Ronald Ziegler, Dwight Chapin, Gordon C. Strachan, Donald Segretti, Herbert Porter.

Some of their classmates recall now how their political careers were launched in campus politics in those waning years of the so-called silent generation and before the activism of the mid-1960s was launched to the north at Berkeley.

While other schools such as UC-Berkeley grabbed political headlines, USC, at Los Angeles, for years had been a spawning ground for political figures that included former Assembly Speaker Jess Unruh and H. R. Haldeman.

At the start of the '60s, a slender young man of Armenian descent, Walter Karabian, was student body president at USC. Today, Karabian is a state assemblyman and a Democratic candidate for secretary of state.

"Their political party was called Trojans for Representative Government," Karabian remembers. "They were the only political party. They always accused the other guys of being part of some secret society," he said.

"I defeated one of Ziegler's and Chapin's fraternity brothers for student body president in April of 1959," Karabian says.

The TRG candidate was named Mike Thompson of Sigma Chi and his campaign manager was Herbert Porter, later to become an official of the Committee to Re-elect the President and a key figure in the Senate Watergate hearings.

Thompson spurned politics after that and went into real estate in Southern California, Karabian said.

The same year, Karabian, now 35, was a senior. Mike Woodson was a freshman and beginning to get active in TRG.

Woodson, now an aide to California Gov. Ronald Reagan, said TRG's first choice as a candidate for student body president was Chapin, later to become Nixon's appointments secretary.

But a student had to have an A-minus average or better to run and Chapin was disqualified, says Woodson, who served as a West Coast advance man for Nixon during the 1968 campaign.

Others in the TRG group included Mike Guhin, later an aide to Henry Kissinger, and Sandy Quinn, who worked for Nixon's unsuccessful campaign for governor in 1962 and later for Reagan.
